Tax Load The Biggest Ever Is Signed By FDR

Huge Revenue Bill To Cause All To Feel Pinch

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—With President Roosevelt's signature the $3,553,400,000 revenue bill became law today and the federal tax load mounted to record-breaking proportions.

The chief executive signed the legislation at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, where he had taken it for a study of its provisions. Both Senate and House approved it earlier this week and sent it to the White House.

Existing taxes and the new levies are expected to bring in between $13,000,000,000 and $15,000,000,000 next year, but even this amount will fall far short of meeting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's recommendation that government spending be financed two-thirds from taxes and one-third from borrowing.

Congressional tax authorities, saying that additional revenue legislation was in prospect, forecast that the present tax structure plus the new act, would raise only about half of next year's expenditures, which are expected to run around $32,000,000,000.

The new law, which started its course through Congress five months ago, will bring an estimated 4,930,000 additional persons under the income tax structure by lowering present income exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons. This provision is estimated to raise $303,000,000, of which $49,000,000 will be paid by new taxpayers. The remainder will come from individuals already paying income taxes.

Use Tax On Cars

In addition to the income tax, citizens will feel the pinch of the new act in numerous other ways. Starting next February, for instance, an estimated 32,000,000 motorists will pay a $5 annual use tax on their vehicles. Starting October 1, local telephone bills will be taxed 6 per cent and a score of so-called "nuisance" taxes will go into effect.

The latter includes 10 per cent levies on everything from refrigerators to luggage; from jewelry to business machines, from optical equipment to sporting goods.

In addition there is a 5 per cent transportation tax on tickets costing more than 35 cents. That will be effective October 10.

The individual and corporation income taxes will be effective on this year's income; higher estate levies are effective immediately, and increased gift taxes go into effect January 1.

Of the total revenue provided in the measure, congressional experts estimated that $1,144,600,000 would come from individuals; $1,382,100,000 from corporations; $179,900,000 from capital stock, estate and gift taxes, and $846,800,000 from excise and miscellaneous taxes.

Visits Made To Disabled Ships

VALLEJO, Calif., Sept. 20.—(AP)—British naval officers, speaking from their batered ships, told calmly and dispassionately today of England's battles at sea during from their battered ships, told secrecy which has guarded the presence of British war craft in American harbors.

At Mare Island navy yard newsmen were conducted on tours of the 9,100-ton cruiser Liverpool and the 7,215-ton cruiser Orion. At the Bremerton (Wash.) navy yard reporters boarded the huge British dreadnaught Warspite.

Commander T. C. T. Waynne, skipper of the Orion, said his vessel was damaged by a German bomb during the evacuation from Crete. He described the batle of Calabria, in which three Italian destroyers were sunk, as a "brush—just a late evening chase" and prosaically told of the battle of Matapan, southwest of Crete.

"The battle started with contact about 8 a. m. during the early stages there were maneuvers by cruisers on either side. Then one of the new vast Italian battleships appeared on the scene. Heavy ships came up to the battle area. During the night three 8-inch cruisers were destroyed and probably some destroyers, too."

Commander R. S. Dawson, chief engineer of the Liverpool, said an engagement "in the neighborhood of Crete" brought damage to his ship from an aerial torpedo.

Band Parents Club To Meet Monday Night

Members of the Band Parents club will meet in Room 12 of the Smith-Cotton high school for a business session at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Shoe Officials Be In Meeting

R. J. Parnall of the Tober-Saifer Shoe Company and H. L. Ruppert, president of H. L. Ruppert and Company of St. Louis will attend the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting at William's Cafe, Tuesday noon to complete arrangements for the establishment of a shoe factory here in Sedalia.

The Chamber of Commerce has been negotiating with this company for sometime and every effort will be made to complete arrangements at the Tuesday noon meeting.

Taft Asks That Foreign Policy Not Be Injected

Sees No Reason For It In The Off-Year Elections

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Declaring that "it is unfortunate that Mr. Wendell Wilkie should attempt to read out of the party those who disagree with him on foreign policy," Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today that he saw no reason for Republicans to make an issue of international policies in the off-year elections of 1942.

Willkie, the 1940 Republican nominee, recently let it be known that he would make a fight next year for those Republicans who have supported President Roosevelt's foreign policies. He is determined, associates asserted, to make the Republican party one of "internationalism" rather than "isolationism."

Taft, who has opposed administration foreign policies, told reporters that "foreign policy is not usually considered a matter of partisanship."

"Congressional votes on the question have cut across party lines, and there is no reason for the Republican party to make an issue of foreign policy next year," he added.

"No Republican national convention can be held to make any binding declarations regarding policy before next year's elections, and the party national committee clearly has no authority to make such declarations.

Ample Domestic Issues

"I see no reason why each congressman and each senator should not run on his own foreign policy record. There are plenty of domestic issues on which the Republican party stands united, and it is unfortunate that Mr. Wendell Willkie should attempt to read out of the party those who disagree with him on foreign

Execute Dozen More French In Reprisal

Face A German Firing Squad As Result Of Slaying

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

PARIS, German Occupied France, Sept. 20 — A dozen Frenchmen went before a German firing squad today in a twelve-lives-for-one reprisal.

This mass execution of hostages was a ratio increase in punishment of the Paris population for acts against the occupying force and was the occasion for a warning that the repriscals would be further stepped up in the event of more attacks against German soldiers.

The 12 died in retaliation for an attack in which one German non-commissioned officer was killed early last Tuesday. It was the largest number of hostages yet shot and raised the total to 25.

The ratio which previously had stood for reprisals was three hostages executed for each German attacker. None of the other Germans was killed, however.

(In Vichy it was announced that French authorities working to down opposition had condemned three communists to die. One of them was Adolphe Guyot, communist leader of the Paris district. A Free French radio broadcast from London stated that "for each Frenchman shot in reprisal by the German army of occupation, two German heads will roll on the day of final reckoning.")

The executions were announced by the German military commander of occupied France, Gen. Heinrich Von Stuelpnagel, who in curt tones warned that in case of further attacks against the Germans "many more hostages will be shot."

Stiff Penalties Imposed

Today also saw Paris subjected to the stiffest penalties yet imposed by the German administration. Starting tonight restaurants, cafes and movies must be closed on the dot at 8 p. m. for a three-day "mourning period", and the populace must be off the streets from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m.

To this Gen. Von Stuelpnagel added a somber note in a proclamation: "Observation of these orders will be controlled by German patrols."

The grand total of persons executed since a German ensign was shot in a Paris subway August 21, now is 35. In addition to 25 shot as hostages, seven were executed as communists and three as spies.

Women Democrats Elect Delegates

The Womans Democratic club met Saturday September 20, with the President Mrs. Joe Thomson presiding. The following delegates and alternates were elected to attend the state convention to be held October sixth and seventh in Jefferson City.

Delegates, Mrs. W. B. Rissler, Mrs. Eugene Miller, Mrs. M. P. Shy, Mrs. Sue Phelan.

Alternates, first alternate, Mrs. Herman Meyers, second, alternate, Mrs. Perry Strole, third alternate, Mrs. Theodore Thomas, fourth, alternate Mrs. Beulah Hunter, fifth alternate, Mrs. Horner.

More Volunteers For Red Cross Week Needed

The surgical dressings department of the Pettis county chapter of the Red Cross, as well as all other departments, is hard at work, but still more volunteers are needed. The December quota of thousands of bandages, all of which go to hospitals in this country to provide for the needs of the newly enlisted service men cannot be met unless more persons enroll at once.

Miss Agnes Quin and Mrs. J. A. Lamy, co-chairmen, announce the following new schedule of supervisors:

Monday evening, Miss Anna Marie Morseman.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. Frank Keyser.

Wednesday morning, Mrs. A. J. Hurley.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. L. W. Richardson and Mrs. Phil Burford.

Thursday morning, Mrs. M. C. Abeles and Mrs. J. C. Griffin.

Friday afternoon, Mrs. H. E. Bradley and Mrs. Dell Ilmberger.

Home Service Course

In line with the national defense program a course in instruction in home service is being conducted by Mrs. Elliott Ginsberg, 1009 West Seventh street. Mrs. Ginsberg is an accredited social worker with years of experience and the Red Cross feels fortunate to have her help.

Taking the home service instruction are Mrs. Lawson McCurdy, Mrs. Albert Wright, Mrs. Robert Spencer, all of Sedalia; Mrs. Lon Slaton, Hughesville; Mrs. Clay Leftwich, Longwood; Mrs. Frank Parker, La Monte; Mrs. H. A. White, Green Ridge; Mrs. H. L. Hill, Smithton. Also meeting with them is Dr. Harry S. May, president of county coordinating council.

The second meeting was held at Mrs. Ginsberg's home Saturday afternoon. The purpose of the course is to train volunteers to assist in making home conditions and dependency discharge investigations.

The Red Cross is distributing materials in large quantities to be made up into garments for war-worn people everywhere. During the last ten days the following distributions were made:

Salem Ladies' Aid, 15 children's woolen dress.

First Baptist church, 50 children's woolen dresses.

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, 30 children's woolen dresses.

First Christian church, 100 children's rompers.

Bethel Methodist church, Hugh-

Ellsworth Green Assist In Jobs

Colonel Claude C. Earp, state director of the Selective Service System, Jefferson City, announced the appointment of Ellsworth Green, Jr., as Reemployment Committeeman on the Selective Service System Registrants' Advisory Board.

Mr. Green is secretary of the Sedalia chamber of commerce. His duties will be to assist the men over 28 years of age who are being discharged from the army in either returning to their former positions in industry or procuring new jobs.

All Pettis county men returning from branches of the army service will report to Mr. Green, and it is requested that all employers who will have positions for these men advise him.

Wider Uses Of Farm Products

L. F. Livingston To Tell Of Advancement In Chemurgy

The forced pace of research caused by defense demand for raw materials may be expected to result in wider uses of farm products according to L. F. Livingston, manager of the Agricultural Extension Division of the DuPont company who will address the Chamber of Commerce meeting here in Sedalia, Monday, September 22nd at 6:30 p. m. at the Bothwell hotel; for example, plastic shoe strings will release about 500,000 pounds of metal, principally tin to vital industries in 1941 alone, it is estimated by the plastic department of the Du Pont company.

More than half a billion laces; of all types, from infants shoes to cavalry leggings will be plastic tipped in 1941, it is estimated. "Pails of pyralin," cellulose, nitrate and other plastics for tipping have skyrocketed in recent months.

One pound of plastics replaces more than three pounds of metal. Plastic tips, manufacturers say, are stronger, more compact, and will outlast metal tips. These are credited with eliminating danger of cuts, or scratches when laces are yanked through heavy footwear.

Impetus To Industry

The chemical industry in the United States is a development which has taken place during the last 25 years. Impetus was given this movement by the first war. America at that time was almost wholly dependent on German dyes. Today, 25 years later, America makes 95% of the dye stuffs, she uses, exports more than she imports and employes thousands of men and women in the industry. Similar situations existed in drugs and medical supplies, optical glass and countless other products vital to the health, comfort and welfare of the American people.

Similar stories of the building of our own industries to the supply of our own needs, will be told by Mr. Livingston.

The meeting which is being sponsored by the Agricultural Division of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce will be presided over by Director Don Lamm. The principal speaker, L. F. Livingston was on the faculties of the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan State College. He is also a former president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, director of the National Farm Chemurgic Council.

W. C. T. U., To Meet At Moberly

MOBERLY, Mo., Sept. 20—(AP)—One of Missouri's charter unions of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be host to that group's state convention next Tuesday through Friday (Sept. 23-26).

The Missouri organization was formed by Frances E. Willard at Hannibal in April, 1882 and other charter groups in the organization included Moberly, St. Louis, Kansas City, Potosi, Ironton, De Soto, Rolla and Webster Groves.

The host group has another major connection with state history of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Nelle Burger, now of Springfield, veteran state president, first served as county president here in Randolph county. She was chosen state president first in 1913.

Mrs. Burger will meet with other state officers on Monday to make final convention arrangements. General sessions open on Tuesday.

Fined For Lack Of License Stickers

In police court the following Sedalians paid fines for not having city auto license stickers in the automobiles: William Allcorn and John Kennedy. Allcorn paid $3 and Kennedy $2 by virtue of not having his car but two months.

Willis Chaney, charged with running a red light, paid a $2 fine.

Federal Reserve Bank Official To Speak

The Eighth Federal Reserve District Bank of St. Louis is sending a representative to Sedalia to address the business and professional people on the new federal regulations covering installment sales and some types of loans and to answer questions relative to this subject.

The meeting which is being sponsored by the Sedalia Retail Credit Association will be held Thursday night, September 25th at Hotel Bothwell at 8:00 o'clock. All interested persons both of Sedalia and surrounding towns are invited and urged to be present that these new regulations may be fully understood. There is no charge or obligation of any kind in connection with attendance.

Living Cost At Ten Years High

Upturn Explained By Economic Law, Supply And Demand

By THOMAS F. COMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Food prices and the cost of living have reached their highest point in 10 years under the impact of the armament effort, but an accompanying rise in weekly earnings of factory workers, government economists say, has more than kept pace with climbing prices.

Records of the bureau of labor statistics show that the cost of living has gone up 7½ per cent since the start of the war in Europe. But in the same period average weekly earnings in manufacturing industries have increased 32 per cent.

This is contrary to the experience of the first two years after World War I broke out in Europe. In 1914-16, living costs jumped 14 per cent. Figures are not available on wage increases of that period, but economists say that earnings lagged behind increasing costs.

Current higher earnings and wage increases, of course, have not reached all workers, and there are many persons with fixed incomes, receiving no more now than they did two years ago.

But in the manufacturing industries, especially in the durable goods establishments where so much of defense production is concentrated, workers have received a substantial margin of "real wages" above the beyond the rise in living costs, economists say.

Hope To Stiffen Reds Resistance

LONDON, Sept 20.—(AP)—W. Averell Harriman, head of the United States mission to Moscow to join in British-American arrangements to stiffen Russian resistence in the face of terrific German onslaughts.

A qualified source declared Russia's situation in the Ukraine was more precarious than ever in the face of German claims of a juncture of German columns behind Kiev, capture of Poltava far to the southeast of Kiev and a drive across the Perekop peninsula to isolate Crimea.

Should Germans suceed in the maneuver they are apparently attempting, this source said, they would virtually shut the door against entry of the United States and British arms through the Persian gulf and Iran.

Kharkov, Rostov and the rich Donets coal valley would also be exposed to the next German pincer thrust, it was added, and the Germans would be in a position to cover and support a new drive along the north shore of the Black sea.

Declaring "the British people have a much better realization of the gravity of the Russian situation than to the people of America." Harriman said the United States and British missions to Moscow already had reached an agreement on immediate material aid to Russia. He will follow Lord Beaverbrook, head of the British mission, to Moscow as soon as possible to continue their planning there on replenishing of Russian supplies.

The two missions were agreed, Harriman said, that the flow of guns, tanks, planes and raw materials to Russia should be limited only by the physical problems of transportation. He intimated he shared increasing British concern over the gravity of Soviet losses of material.

Kenneth Raab Be Speaker to Rotary

The speaker at Rotary Monday will be Kenneth Raab, of the Civicis Department of the Smith-Cotton high school who will have as his subject: "International Affairs." W. O. Stanley is the program chairman.

British Shoot Down Fifteen Planes Of Foe

RAF Engages In Biggest Offensive Of Air In Weeks

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 21—(AP)—A German bomber was destroyed during raids on Britain last night, it was authoritatively reported early today.

BERLIN, Sunday, Sept. 21—(AP)—British air raiders dropped incendiary bombs on Berlin during the night but caused only "unimportant property damage,' 'an official announcement said today.

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, Sept. 20—(AP)—The RAF in one of the biggest offensives in weeks, begun by the light of the aurora borealis and continued throughout the daylight hours, pounded bitterly defended objectives from Norway to France today.

There was fierce fighting over the English channel in which the British declared they shot down 15 German planes and lost ten of their own, including seven fighters and three bombers. The German high command, in a special announcement heard here by radio, asserted that a total of 38 British planes were shot down, all but three in air combat. The Germans said they lost only two.

The RAF said it burned or crippled six ships in a German convoy in the channel.

Reuters quoted DNB as saying British planes also attacked Berlin but the British denied any tries at the capital. Russian planes may have bombed Berlin.

Attack Nazi Convoy

Blenheim bombers escorted by RAF fighter planes attacked the German convoy off the Netherlands coast late today. An authoritative source said one of the larger ships was hit by a bomb, four ships were seen burning and the back of another was broken.

Three other bomber formations were reported to have lashed at railway centers in Hazebrouck and Abbeville, shipyards near Rouen and the Cherbourg docks, respectively. A high altitude fortress aircraft bombed objectives at the manufacturing and shipbuilding city of Emden while Blenheim bombers attacked a fish oil factory on the coast of Norway, the source said.

Appointment To Judge Monroe

Judge Frank Monroe, well known Sedalian, has been appointed by United States Senator Harry S. Truman as a special representative of the United States Senate Special Committee investigating the National Defense program relative to reported excessive costs in various projects. The announcement was made late Friday by Senator Truman who is chairman of the committee.

Judge Monroe entered upon his duties immediately and this week will go to Neosho, Missouri, where his first work will be to make a thorough investigation of the new army cantonment construction on which is started there. Upon completion of his inquiry he will make his report to the committee.

His duties will cover all defense projects in this part of the country.

Nine Members Added To Personnel Of Symphony

At an enthusiastic rehearsal of the Sedalia Symphony orchestra Tuesday night there were nine new members present, and there is every assurance that the personnel this season will number well over 50 players, according to Abe Rosenthal, conductor.

Several new Sedalia teachers will be playing with the orchestra, among them Ralph Guenther, director of public school music. Mr. Guenther is a flutist. He has replaced J. T. Alexander on the faculty.

New Concertmaster

Mrs. John M. Rodeman, the former Margaret Love, who has been principal of the second violins, will be the concertmaster, succeeding to the chair formerly held by Mr. Alexander, who is now director of music at Kemper Military Academy at Boonville. Mrs. Rodeman is an accomplished violinist with excellent training, and will lend assured approach and artistry to the orchestra's performance.

In addition to Mr. Guenther the new teacher members are: Miss Edna Givens, violinist, first section; Miss Maudalice Nelson, the trumpet; Miss Dorothy Diemer, flute; Miss Cleora Clements, clarinet, and Rollin Godfrey, trombone. Other added members are Maurice Johns and Robert Fingland, trumpets, and Miss Thelma Palmer, horn. All are experienced musicians.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Larson, music instructors at Central Missouri State Teachers college, in Warrensburg, will be guest players this season. Mr. Larson plays viola and Mrs. Lason is a cellist.

Seventh Concert Year

With the new additions the instrumentation of the orchestra will be more complete and better balanced than ever before. The symphony has grown steadily and with each passing season has gained in musical coordination and tonal qualities. The Sedalia symphony is preparing its seventh series of annual concerts, which makes it a still very young organization when compared with the St. Louis Symphony which will open its sixty-second season next month.

Sedalia is one of the few cities of its size in the country to have a civic symphony orchestra and last year carried through a full season without a general drive to secure funds, a record which probably cannot be equalled anywhere.

Subscriptions for season tickets again will be taken, and further business plans for this year, as well as the opening date, will be announced soon.

Russian Position In The Ukraine Is More Perilous

Life Or Death Struggles Are Waged By Reds

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

A perfect example of the blitzkrieg technique, implemented with virtually every weapon in the Nazi arms chest, has delivered Kiev completely into German hands. Berlin dispatches declared last night even as the Russians told of stern life-or-death struggles in the old city's suburbs, and the United States hastened their program of aid for the sore-pressed Soviets.

The Russian position in the Ukraine evidently was a desperate one, although the official Soviet Army Red Star said the Germans had lost 10 divisions—up to 150,000 men—in assaulting Kiev, and a high source in London expressed doubt that the Nazi drive generally was doing as well as claimed in Berlin.

Moscow announced officially early today (Sunday) that heavy fighting raged up and down the entire front and that it was "particularly fierce" at Kiev.

May Hold Part Of Capital

This indicated the Russians might still be holding at least a part of the Ukrainian capital against the unending assaults of a quarter million fresh troops reported hurled into the struggle by Adolf Hitler.

The Russians reported success in a naval clash, the sinking of a big German transport in the far northern waters of the Barents Sea.

Reports reached London that a state of emergency had been declared in Bulgaria and the diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch reported that King Boris had decided to take the Balkan kingdom into the war on the side of the axis.

The state of emergency was linked with a Bulgarian charge that a number of Russian parachutists had landed in Bulgaria and had been arrested after fighting with troops and police.

Situation Some Obscure

The exact situation at Kiev was not altogether clear. Adolf Hitler's headquarters reported that the Russian officers had fled from the Kiev citadel and that the garrison capitulated, with German troops pouring into the city not on the heels of the fugitives. This implied without definitely stating that the entire city had fallen.

Unofficial German accounts from the front, however, said all the city of 850,000 population was taken by the combined and terrible force of flame-throwers, dive-bombers, tanks and charging infantrymen who hurled showers of grenades before them.

It was a smoothly-working coordination and essential item in the broad plan for the conquest of the remainder of the rich fields and factories of all the Ukraine, these dispatches stated.

The house-to-house cleanup quickly ended all resistance so that the Russians had small chance to wreck the city in furtherance of their "scorched earth" policy, the German said.

Doubt Full Encirclement

A qualified London source acknowledged that the German drive had made the Russian position in the Ukraine more precarious than ever, but expressed doubt that the Nazis had completed the big scale encirclement move which they claimed had surrounded four Russian armies east of Kiev.

If they should complete such a maneuver, however, this source said the rich Donets basin with the cities or Kharkow and Rostov would be exposed to the next thrust and the Germans then could support and protect a new drive along the north shore of the Black Sea.

W. Averell Harriman, chief of the American mission to Russia, said in London that his mission and the British already had agreed on immediate material aid to Russia to be limited only by

Report Intent Of Bulgaria To Enter The War

London Hears King Boris Plans Lineup With Axis

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Reports reached London today that a state of emergency had been declared in Bulgaria and the Sunday dispatch's diplomatic correspondent said King Boris of Bulgaria had decided to take the Balkan kingdom into the war on the side of the axis.

A number of Russian parachutists and "other persons who had succeeded in reaching Bulgarian soil" were arrested, according to a Bulgarian police statement relayed from Turkey.

Among the inducements reported by the dispatch's correspondent to have won Boris over were:

Naval command of the Black sea.

A trading and transport monopoly in the Black sea.

Granting to Bulgaria a 'protectorate" over the Crimea, Soviet territory jutting into the Black sea. (Nazi armies were reported to have cut the Crimea off from mainland.)

Protectorates Probable

Germany and Bulgaria, in the event Turkey opposes Germany's plans, would set up a joint protectorate over the Caucasus.

Bulgaria also would get a protectorate over Thrace—the Greek and Turkish lands at the southern end of the Balkan peninsula.

Military sources put Bulgaria's total war strength at 500,000 men in the army. The Bulgarian navy and air force are virtually nonexistent, having been forbidden by the World War treaty of Neuilly, whose restrictions were only lifted by the treaty of Salonika signed with the Balkan Entente powers in 1938.

Until 1938 Bulgaria was permitted to have an army of only 20,000 men, all volunteers. Since May, 1940, military service has been compulsory for men between the ages of 17 and 65, who were eligible for two years of service.

Bulgaria was reported to have 100,000 men under arms at the beginning of the year but later demobilized some to harvest crops. Partial mobilization was ordered Sept. 15, with the calling up of the class of 1921 and part of the classes of 1922 and 1923. Twenty seven high ranking officers were retired last December for desiring to enter the war on the side of Germany.

Lightning In The Storm Clouds—

During the past decade we have been taught that the man with money bags and corporation control is an ogre who has had too much power which he exercised for evil purposes over the people.

No longer ago than Friday in Collier's Weekly, President Roosevelt writing on the subject, "The Continuing Struggle for Liberalism," refers to these controlling factors: " . . . the small, powerful group which had formerly controlled the economic system through their concentrated economic power. . . The government was determined that the system. . . should no longer be subject to the control of the handful of men and corporations that had dominated it in the false boom days before 1929. . . Although few in number, they had the resources which enabled them to make the most noise."

The intriguing part of the above quotations is the president's distrust of a powerful minority, the few who worked against the public interests.

In pursuit of liberalism there has been a far swing to the left. More and more there are recurrent indications that the "vested interests" have simply changed positions. This is the transition that the public must watch, and watch carefully.

Modification of any system cannot be accomplished without some travail. The public must be prepared for a certain amount of nonsense when it is represented by governemental leaders who allow responsibility to fall into some irresponsible hands.

But too much liberty can become too much license. Cicero said: "The safety of the people shall be the highest law." The current trouble in Kansas City shows again the conflict between license in the hands of a few irresponsible labor leaders as against the interests of the public safety. It is indicative of a trend that intermittently becomes eruptive in various parts of the country. Those in high places who remain blind to this phase of social changes encourage defeat of the very idealism they promote.

The public interest cannot be served if the visciousness of one minority group, powerful in wealth, shall be transfered to another minority group, powerful in politics, but lacking common sense. Influential labor groups, conscious of this very danger, have already taken steps to discredit the radicals as nonrepresentatives of labor's true purposes.

By no stretch of the imagaination can there by justification for the shutting off of a great city's light and water supply inviting innumerable dangers to life and property. It would appear that nonsense is no longer the privilege of aristocracy, but rather the privilege of crack-pot labor agitators.

While the incident itself was a momentary calamity, transcending it in importance is the revelation of an undercurrent of deadly capriciousness in the mentality of those whom some labor groups have chosen for leadership.

If the people show forebearance in allowing minority groups to have power in public affairs, then these groups to preserve their vitality must be vigilant in selecting leaders. They have the capacity to use sanity in the direction of their own affairs wherein they mesh with the public welfare.

She Doesn't Like Parking Meters

A Sedalia housewife writes me her opinions on parking meters, signs her name to show her good faith, something newspapers require. Anonymous letters are not welcome. But this woman is sincere and here is what she says:

"I don't think you are the "Answer Man," but here goes:

"First, I should say I represent the feminine opinion, plus opinions I ask for, from business men on Ohio street. Since women do 50% or more of the buying, and 100% of the looking, who else would have a better right to express an opinion on parking meters than a woman? What 80% of Sedalia would like to know is why do we have parking meters? Did the merchants favor putting them in? No!

"By being inquisitive I learned one Ohio street merchant favored parking meters. Did Main street want them? No. Why didn't they install them there also; they have as much traffic. Who is the super salesman on Main street?

"After the salesman from the meter company had presented the parking meter possibilities to the Sedalia merchants, the merchants from time to time discussed the idea with their customers and got a negative reaction. We don't think it sporting to push this program down their throats, regardless, do you?

"We are told that 35% of our business are the people, just looking. Ask the merchant how much traffic has fallen off since the installation of parking meters. Ask how business compares with last year's figures, considering the increased sales trend which is nation-wide.

"Friday at 2 o'clock there were four cars on Ohio street. Where were the window shoppers- If we don't lock, we don't buy. We all feel Sedalia is a grand place to live, regardless. But we do think a few things could stand some watchful opposition. What do you think? D.M.U."

Your Opportunity To Answer—

What I think has already been printed. Parking meter oppositionists naturally think I am stubbornly prejudiced. But I am not. Letters like the above are welcomed by the editor. This woman's comments were not made in the heat of anger or petty criticism. It is what she believes, and she says it in few words. These sort of expressions are needed to stimulate discussion of community problems. Perhaps someone who favors parking meters as a result of experience with them in Sedalia, can write a reply to the above. A few expressions from the housewives would certainly be interesting. Letters must be signed, but names will not be used, if you request ommission.

The Earth Printed Here—

John Kuhn, 510 North Grand Avenue, provides us with some information not previously published and of interest to old-timers.

"Some time ago you wrote about the early papers published in Sedalia. There is one you forgot to mention. It was called THE EARTH. It was printed by hand press and had a picture of the earth in the center at the top of the paper. It was published on the northeast corner of Main and Kentucky streets where Frank Gross ran the checker board store. This is where W. H. Harris started the Sedalia Candy Co., that later moved to the building where Shryack-Wright wholesale house is today. I used to read this newspaper at my tailor shop on the corner of Moniteau and Wilkerson streets. There may be some of these papers in the files of the Sedalia Bazoo."

Oslo Dances

From the occupied countries of Europe little word comes directly. To know what goes on there, one must study carefully what the Germans themselves reveal, then read between the lines.

Here comes Fritt Folk, the newspaper organ of the nauseous Quisling in Oslo: "Those people in an Oslo suburb who, on the evening of a British air raid, organized a dance in honor of the enemy can be assured that their names are known and that they will be reminded of it at a favorable opportunity."

As gallant a gesture, answered by a nasty and skulking a threat as we've read lately. Does anybody seriously believe that the decent people of the world are ever going to consent to be ruled by creatures of the Quisling cast? In apparently believing that they would, Hitler revealed the blind spot in the eye of the "Great Realist."

Man Alone

Our modern world has made the individual free, yet cut him off from his fellows to an amazing degree. We have gone too far in our independence, one of another.

In a New England town, a man is reported to have lain in his automobile, ill and without food, for six days before anyone noticed his plight and brought him aid.

Yes, we are independent, and proud of our independence. We of the cities proud of our ability to go our way, mixing in nobody else's business, nobody mixing in ours. Yet if they had had that attitude in Samaria 2000 years ago, the man who fell among thieves might be lying there yet.

Because of a disagreement between the Missouri Pacific and M. K. & T. railroads yesterday, Sedalians had cheap rates to Kansas City throughout the day. Rates were cut to $1 by the Missouri Pacific officials, who stated that they were not notified, as has been formerly agreed, of the running of a special excursion to Kansas City by the Katy. Trains to the city were crowded.

'S' Club's Annual Banquet Will Be Thursday Night

The annual fall banquet of the Smith-Cotton high school "S" club will be held next Thursday night at the First M. E. church, Fourth street and Osage avenue, at 6:30 o'clock. Invitations were mailed out to all club members this week, and reservations will be accepted until Wednesday noon.

Several business matters will be discussed at the banquet-meeting, and officers for the 1941-42 term will be elected. The names of 18 members have been submitted by the nominating committee for voting, and others will be accepted at the banquet.

Those who have been nominated are Paul Hausam, and Maurice Hogan, president; Patricia Poundstone and "Pat" Kidd, first vice-president; John Staley and Vivian Denny, second vice-president; Marjorie Rector and Mrs. Virgil Corson, secretary; Lloyd Satterwhite and Jack Pasley, treasurer; Maurice Griffin and Billie Roberts, sergeant at arms; A. J. Staley and Paul Schroeder, parliamentarian; Ethel Abney and Mary Vance, historian; Mildred Brackman and Lillian Fox, accompanist.

The committee also has suggested additions to the "S" club constitution providing that the retiring president automatically becomes a member of the executive committee until a replacement of another president, and that the duly elected treasurer of the club shall be bonded by the "S" club to the amount of $500.

New "S" club cards, entitling members to admittance to all S-C activities, will be issued at the banquet. Because the first football game of the season will be held before the banquet, the old cards, issued last year, will remain in effect until after the game.

Chester Eding is president of the club.

WASHINGTON—Here is the inside information regarding the convoy of forty lease-lend ships, 31 of which the Germans claimed were sunk a few hours after the President's "shoot-first" broadcast.

What happened was that these ships were the first to be convoyed by American naval vessels to Iceland. Secretary of the Navy Knox announced on September 15 that U. S. warships would "provide protection" for British vessels to Iceland, but even before his speech one such convoy actually took place—though officially it didn't.

Officially, American supply ships were en route to Iceland under the very heavy protection of the U. S. navy, and British supply ships merely tagged along. The navy did not turn the hitch-hikers back and they got the full benefit of our guns. But officially it was not convoying.

Anyway, this group of vessels got to Iceland without a mishap. But when it proceeded on to England, Nazi submarines and bombing planes attacked. The Germans announced that 31 of the forty ships were sunk. Actually the number sunk was only eight, though several others were damaged.

This attack took place, however, after the ships had left the protection of the U. S. navy and were flying the Union Jack.

Two Gentlemen From Indiana

Will Hays, postmaster general in the Harding administration and now czar of the movie industry, has been strangely absent from the senate investigation of Hollywood. Some attribut this to the fact that Wendell Willkie is running the show, for Hays vigorously opposed his appointment.

However, the two men did get together in New York before the senate investigation started. At this time Willkie asked the former Indiana politician to define the limits to which a motion pcture was supposed to go.

Will Hays talked for about fifteen minutes. Finally Willkie interruped:

'Listen, Will," he said, "what I wanted was an answer, not a speech. Don't forget that I'm from Indiana too."

Note: In the motion picture industry Will Hays long has been called "General," abbreviation for "Postmaster General." At first the movie people in Washington didn't know what to call Willkie, hit upon "Generalissimo." Now, however, they call him "Field Marshal."

Defense Red Tape

Today the word "priority" is the most unpopular in the jargon of American business. It causes more trouble than the "code" of ancient NRA days, and it is even more distasteful than taxes.

This does not mean that business resents the principal of priorities—which is recognized as essential to war production—but that priorities are administered with such haphazard red tape.

Here are illustrations of how certain government officials are bungling priorities:

A new naval air station was built in a certain southern city, and the city agreed to build a new fire house nearby to provide protection. But the city had to have fire hose for the new fire house and it couldn't buy the hose from the manufacturer without first getting a priority order from the OPM. The city fathers filed an application tnd got nowhere. So they ask a special representative in Washington to go personally to the OPM and try to dislodge the application.

Their representative went to the OPM in person, trudged from office to office, from bureau to bureau over a period of ten days, in the course of which time he discovered that thousands of priority requests are dumped in a basement mail room in the old police building (in such confusion that they are being trodden upon and some of them even bearing the strains of tobacco juice from passing messengers.)

To pass the time between stations, this representative drew up a diagram of the course followed by a single vagrant priority request, and his graphic diagram shows no less than 20 knots in the long string of red tape which a single priority order must pass. It goes from one mail room to one index room to one clearing office to another clearing office, and so on through a vast maze, so complex that no official of the OPM, indeed no one except a representative who has trudged the path of all 20 messengers placed end to end, could possibly describe or diagram it.

Finally, the fire hose papers were found and the action was taken. The action itself required only two hours, but the mechanics of getting the thing through the mill (the mill consisted mostly of messengers and index girls) required ten days.

Lost in the Shuffle

Another illustration: On August 14, a priority application was made by a representative of a large industrial plant which is producing essential war supplies. The plant desired to purchase some pieces of machinery for replacement of parts in their own plant. The parts were necessary in order to keep the plant production from breaking down. But these articles were under priority restriction, and they had to get a priority order from the OPM.

OPM officials immediately recognized the desirablilty of granting such an application and it was given A-1-b rating with no reluctance or hesitation at all. It is very unusual that such a high rating is given to any application.

But the application, made out in quintuplicate according to instructions, was never seen or heard from again. All that is known, both by priority officials and company officials, is that the application, all 5 copies of it, disappeared from existence, though it bore the 4 signatures of the principal priorities officials of the OPM and had passed through their hands and received their approval in the remarkably short time of two hours.

But the company still needed its repair parts, so they filed another application, likewise in quintuplicate. Again, the application received an A-1-b rating, again it was endorsed by the 4 signatures of the leading priorities officials with no reluctance or hesitation. But again the application was lost.

The company representative went in despair to OPM officials, who were quite as despairing as he. They had desired as much as the company that the necessary parts be supplied so that the company's production of war materials would not be interrupted. Twice they had said so promptly, but what could they do? Government red tape was too much for them. So they jumped all hurdles, circumvented all proper government procedure, and simply wrote a telegram ordering that the parts be delivered.

That's the way things can happen, if the OPM really wants them to.

Encyclopedia Americana Defines Chiropractic

The publishers of the Enclyclopedia Americana is compiling a new edition in which over four thousand words are used explaining the chiropractic profession. The definition given will be as follows: "CHIROPRACTIC (Kiro-PRAK-tik. From the Greek cheir, Hand; and Praktikos, efficient) A system of therapeutics based upon the theory that disease is caused by interference with nerve function. Its theory is based upon the premise that all other systems and physiologic processes of the human body are controlled and coordinated by the nerve system. Its therapeutics attempts to restore normal function of the nerve system by manipulation and treatment of the structure of the human body, especially those of the spinal column."

Dr. Roy Keller

Space prevents giving their entire explanation but it gives historical facts as to how its originator restored hearing to a deaf person by spinal manipulation; development of schools, scholastic requirements, number of practitioners and students and the educational requirements.

That the chiropractic profession is advancing and gaining public esteem is shown by the fact that this encyclopedia has given the profession such a fine recognition in its new addition.

Address Before Washington PTA Friday

Mrs. Momberg Is Elected President And Delegate

Washington P. T. A. met in its first session for the school year in the school auditorium, at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, the meeting being called to order by Mrs. L. E. Graham, first vice president.

She introduced Miss Marian Smith, music instructor, who, with her orchestra, gave several musical numbers and a violin solo by Winnifred Graham, who shows remarkable talent after instruction of but a year.

Mrs. Carl Urban, accompanied by Mrs. James Atkinson, gave a vocal solo and the Rev. R. W. Leazer, pastor of the First Baptist church, offered a prayer.

"The Relationship Between Parents And Teachers" was the topic of the principal address by Rev. Leazer, who stressed the thought that both teachers and parents have but one outstanding aim and that is to build in the child those qualities of character which will produce unselfishness, consideration for others and how to live with others.

Mrs. Momberg President

Mrs. Everette Momberg was elected president to fill the place of Mrs. John Rose, resigned. Mrs. Momberg was also elected delegate to the P. T. A. convention in Kansas City, October 7, 8 and 9. Mrs. L. E. Graham was chosen alternate.

Mrs. Ernest Liebel gave a very interesting and helpful talk on "Character Building As Influenced By Books, Radio and the Movies."

Miss Bessie Perkins, principal of the school, introduced the teachers.

Miss Arline Downs, Mrs. Elizabeth Rissler were presented as new teachers and Miss Lida Burress was introduced as substituting for Mrs. Doras Herndon, injured in an automobile accident last summer, and who is still unable to assume her duties.

After the P. T. A. song, led by Edward Martin with Miss Jessie White accompanist, the parents were dismissed to visit the rooms and teachers of their children.

The meeting of the study class on Tuesday afternoon, September 24, will be at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon instead of at the usual hour of 2:30 p. m. All parents are welcome.

Nash Presents 15 New Models

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 20—Harvesting the fruit of a long term planning program, which provided Nash with new production lines, machines and dies before the national defense emergency set in, Nash Motors division of Nash-Kelvinator corporation this week presented fifteen new 1942 models. They are in three series of five models each and include the low priced Nash Ambassador '600' the medium-priced Nash Ambassador Six and the Nash Ambassador Eight.

"Four years ago," W. A. Blees, general sales manager, said: "Nash began preparing to build a new and advanced automobile to enter a car in the Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth mass market. Millions were invested in new machines, new and advanced mass production lines, and new tools. This most complete modernization of an automobile plant in years was virtually completed before the national defense emergency set in, and so Nash was in a position to go ahead with its completely new cars."

The cars are on display at the local Nash showroom at the Kindred Motor Co.

Feature of the 3 series of cars Nash has built in 1942 are the low priced, high economy Nash '600,' which Nash engineers claim is the newest automobile in the world that it involves construction principles entirely new to the mass production automobile world. The new construction principles were thoroughly approved and acclaimed by thousands of drivers last year, but the car appears for 1942 with many advancements and improvements.

All the fifteen Nash models are big cars, with full three-passenger sets which are just short of five feet wide. Even the low priced '600' is 196½ inches in over all length or about 16½ feet from bumper to bumper.

Eight Army Fliers Killed In Crashes

Two Lieutenants Die In Collision During Maneuvers

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Aerial disaster overtook eight army planes in three states Friday, leaving eight men dead and one badly injured. Three pilots escaped injury.

A three-way collison of planes participating in the Second-Third army maneuvers in Louisiana killed Second Lieutenants R. H. Keith, of Menomonie, Wis., and Leland A. Viar, of Dunlap, Kas. Lieut. W. K. Long, Glenn Falls, N. Y., brought his plane down shortly after it brushed the other two.

Crash of a BT14 trainer immediately after a takeoff from the Parksley, Va., airport killed Second Lieutenants Carlyle C. Hoch, Newark, N. J., and Angus J. MacDonald, Los Angeles, both based at Langley Field, Va.

At Fort Worth, Tex., J. C. Foster, 22-year-old civilian instructor, and Flying Cadet Donald S Bierer, 21, Brooklyn, N. Y., were killed while practicing aerobatics.

Witnesses said a wing came off the craft as it went into a sudden plunge while describing a loop.

First Lieut. Walter H. Boyd Long Beach, Calif., and Corp. Artie M. Howard, Salyersville, Ky., burned to death and Lieut Raymond H. Baldwin, Evansville, Ind., was burned badly in a crash near the Marshall, Tex., municipal airport. All were members of the 12th observation squadron from Fort Knox, Ky., and were based at Marshall for the southern maneuvers. Their craft overshot the field in an attempted landing, struck a tree, crashed into a creek and caught fire.

Lieutenants Verne V. Faulkner, Eugene, Ore., and Neil Lamont, New Orleans, flying instructors at Goodfellow field, San Antonio, Tex., landed their planes safely after a minor collision in the air while flying in a three-plane formation.

Pep Assembly At High School

A pep assembly, featuring skits by each class on the activity ticket drive, was held at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium to activate more students to sell a record amount of tickets before the first football game of the season next Wednesday night at Liberty park.

The football queen, chosen by the class selling the majority of tickets, will be crowned at the game. The junior class led the race yesterday morning, with the eighth grade class second, the seniors third, sophomores fourth and freshmen trailing.

Mete Out Twenty-five Days In Jail Terms

Twenty-five days in jail sentences were "dished out" in police court Saturday morning by Magistrate C. W. Bente, when defendants were unable to pay fines assessed against them.

Orville Fox charged with being drunk was fined $5 and unable to pay was given five days as was Walter Reinert.

Leslie Reed and M. W. Glasgow, both negroes, charged with fighting and being drunk were fined $5 each. Glasgow paid while Reed took the five days in the city jail.

Bart Brady, charged with mooching and being drunk, was sentenced to ten days "outright" by Magistrate Bente. Brady has been before the court numerous times in the past two months.

Michigan ranks first, Pennsylvania second, New York third, and Ohio fourth in the number of hunting licenses issued.

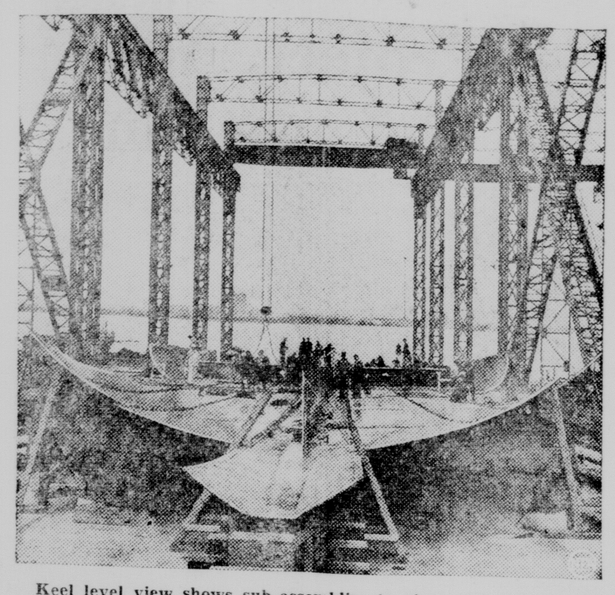
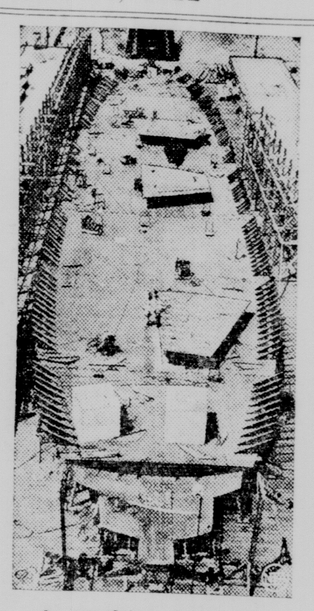
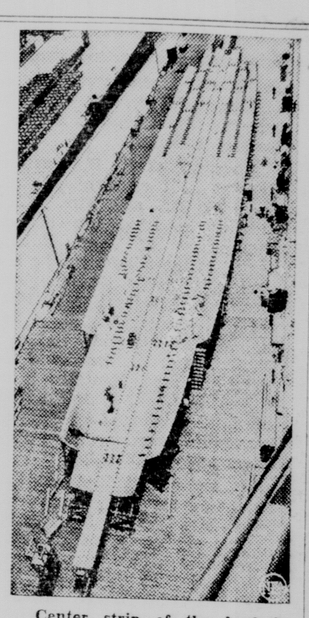
Bow to stern view, showing decks rising between bulkheads.



Keel level view shows sub-assemblies in place and fanning out from the keel.

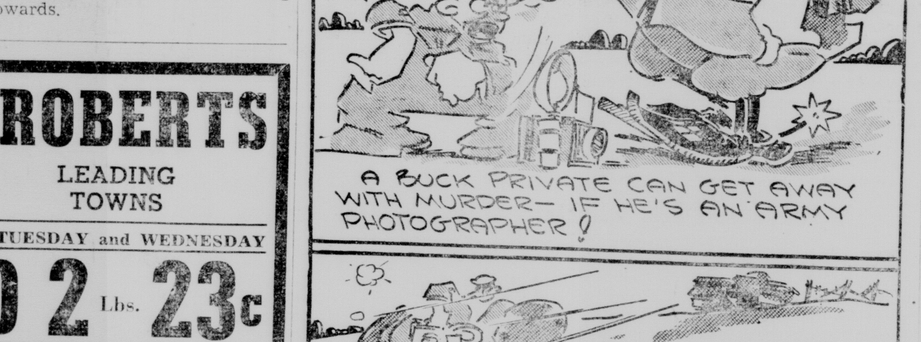


A completed inner bottom, frames beginning to rise at sides.



Center strip of the keel is layed, bottom plates placed.

There's going to be a great day come Sept. 27 when Uncle Sam celebrates "Liberty Fleet Day" all the way from Quincy, Mass., to Portland, Ore., via Pascagoula, Miss. Big feature will be launching of the first three of the new Liberty Ships—commonly and disrespectfully referred to hereto fore sa Ugly Ducklings—and nine other merchant ships. Under the Maritime Commission's urging, American shipyards have broken all records in production of the Liberty Ships. Taken in several shipyards these pictures show how the first three Ubly Ducklings have been built in from four months and three days to four months and 27 days. That's against the World War record of six months and five days from keel laying to launching.



An artist's conception of what the EC-2 type—Ugly Duckling or Liberty ship as you prefer—will look like when put into service. Twenty of them will be commissioned before the end of the year.

Army Trains New Combat Cameramen To "Shoot" As They Charge In Action

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISANA,—A critique was being held the other day in Louisana, where approximately half a million soldiers are concentrating for unprecedenterly large maneuvers. One of the prelimintry corps vs. corps "wars" had ended—and the army brass hats had gathered to review the action critically.

At hte end of the critique a mere private soldier appeared and ordered the military big shots to line up. With a critical scowl he strode up and down the line to survey them. Stars, bars, eagles and oak leaves abounded—insib1 nias of generals, colonels, majors and other ranking officers.

But towering rank didn't faze this buck private. One general had left his shirt pocket unbuttoned—very unmilitary. Button that shirt, sir.

A brigadier general had retreated from the sweltering heat by loosening his tie. This condition was remedied forthwith. The entire group of high army executives was "dressed up" top sergeant style. Meekly the military big shots took it and liked it.

A military miracle.

Photogs Boss Generals

The point is, the buck priveat was an army photographer, a member of a newly formed Signal Corps outfit, the likes of which has never been seenboutfitbrbFn has never been in existence before.

The first of his type of army photographers' unit was activated last January. They have been trained in the Signal Corps School at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

It is their duty to see that no army man— howeved high may be his rank—appears in their pictures for the public prints unless he is spic and span, dressed in the best military tradition. High ranking officers are pointedly included.

The army photographers are painstakingll trained by experts, and in the main the units are mannend by drafted soldiers who were prefessional photographers in civilian life. Each unit of from six to eight men is equipped with an average of $50,000 wirth of photographic material. Only the finest of newspaper action-type still cameras are used. Each unit is equipped to take motion pictures. Two units in each company have highly expensive sound motion picture equipment. The photographers are completely motorized and highly mobile.

Is Only Test Shot

make up new type combat units. make up new type combat units. Photographers the Signal Corps has had before, but these men

All of them received months of basic military training. They are armed and know how to handle their weapons. In case of war, they will operate right on the front lines, taking pictures of soldiers lofting hand grenades into machine gun nests, close-up pictures of dive bombers plummeting on cannon positions, and with the soldiers they will charge positions.

At the Signal Corps School the photographers are given dummy cameras and trained to charge full tilt and fall without greaking their cameras. These pioneer units are taking active part in the big and Arkansasa. For them it is a test shot.

Reunion Held At Home Of W. M. Butcher

All Day Meeting Held By Sunday School Class

By Mrs. J. B. Myers

Mrs. Charles Brown and Mrs. Stella Barnett were hostesses Friday at an all day meeting at the Brown country home to the HHH Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church. At noon a pot luck dinner was served all contributing. Following the dinner the president, Mrs. L. L. Ream presided over the business session and led the devotional.

The day was spent in piecing on a quilt for the hostess. Members present other than mentioned were: Mesdames Donup Ridenour, Eri Anderson, Emmitt Elliott, Lewis Wadleigh, and J. B. Myers. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Moore, Mrs. Jack Chaney, Ms. Walter Brown and Miss Bernice Elliott.

A reunion of the Butcher family was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Butcher honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Butcher. Seated at the table with the honored guest were her daughters, Mrs. Joe Shephard, Mr. Shepard and family; Mrs. Ray Renfus, Mr. Renfus and children of Clinton, Mrs. Charles Ward, Mr. Ward and sons, Montgomery and Robert, her son, Walter Butcher and Mrs. Butcher of Marshall and her grand daughter, Mrs. Royal Ragar and Mr. Ragar.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Perdue have purchased the Bary property on North Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Perdue expect to move to their new home in the near future.

Howard Earl Warren left Monday for Saint Louis where he has accepted a new position.

Mrs. Charles Warren received word the past week from her son who is in the radio service for the government. Norman is on a destroyer at Portland, Me.

Miss Mildred Gover, who is teaching English in the Blairstown schools, accompanied by Mrs. Oren Henry was an overnight guest on Friday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. T. J. Close and Mr. Close.

Mrs. Emil Ripley of Boonville is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Calvert before leaving for Dallas, Texas, where she expects to make her home.

Ms. S. J. Stonger and daughter, Miss Francis Stonger of Monsett, are spending the week with Mrs. Lydia Yost and Miss Nellie Jones while the Rev. S. J. Stonger attends the Methodist Conference which is being held in Marshall this week. Rev. Stonger was a former pastor of the Green Ridge church.

Mrs. Charles Warren and son, Howard Earl Warren and Miss Peggy Phelps, drove to Kansas City last Saturday to visit their husband and father, who is a patient in the Saint Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Warren remained until Tuesday in the city and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belliford. They reported Mr. Warren's condition as slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gregory had as dinner guests on Sunday their son, Vernon Gregory, Mrs. Gregory and baby, also their daughter, Mrs. Arvella Ballew of La Monte.

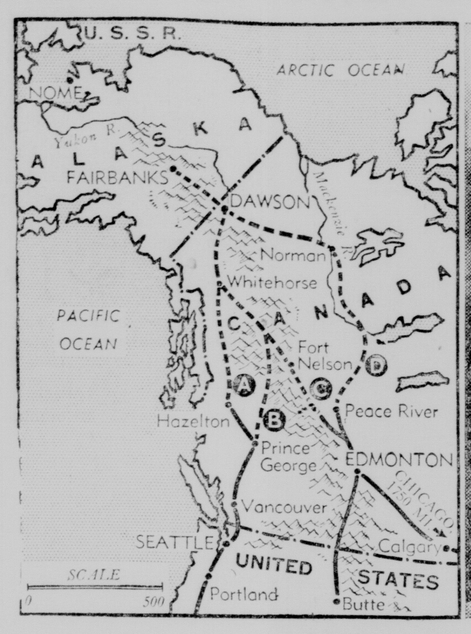
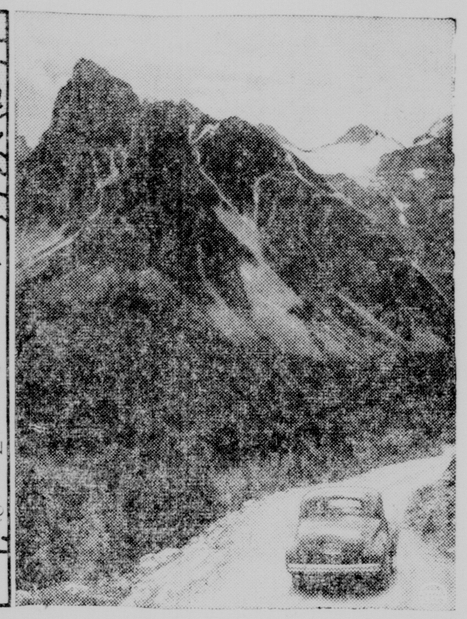
U.S.-Alaska Highway, Once Mere Tourist Project, Now Seen As Vital Defense Link





Discussed for more than a decadoon become a reality due to the needs of national defense. Map ates: A and B, from Seattle through British Columbia; C, frthence to British Columbia; D, from Chicago through Alberta aght, one of the existing roads in Albert used.

By NEA Service

Seattle Washington

The great "hush hush" secrecy which, in view of the increasing tension in the Far East, surrounds all military and naval work on new bases in Alaska speaks loudly in itself of the need for the oft-proposed U. S.-Alaska motor highway.

This scheme has been discussed, ostensibly from the tourist and goodwill point of view, for more than a decade. But it was only recently that President Roosevelt let it be known that he favored "a real survey" of possible routes with a view to starting actual construction without delay.

Swivel-chair enthusiasts have penciled International Highways on the map as lightly as they pencil a chalk line on a billiard table. But it isn't as easy as that. Flying 20-ton steam shovels by airplane into the Canadian Rockies and keeping hundreds of miles of mountain roads cleared of snow and ice and fallen rock are construction and maintenance requirements which make it impossible really to estimate the cost of such a highway.

That is the opinion of certain high officials of the government of British Columbia, a province which wants the road as a tourist artery and developer of natural resources.

Four Routes From Which To Choose

Four principal routes are being considered: two from Seattle through British Columbia; one from Chicago through Alberta and thence to British Columbia; one from Chicago through Alberta and down the Mackenzie river valley in the North West Territories.

Cost and construction-time estimates vary widely. A Canadian commission estimates that it would cost $23,000,000 to build a 20-foot gravel road, without paving, from Vancouver through British Columbia to the Alaska boundary, utilizing existing roads as far as possible—i. e. to Hazelton or Prince George.

Rep. Warren G. Magnuson, of Washington, chairman of the American Alaska International Highway Commission, concurs in this general estimate and reported recently that Canadian and Alaskan engineers agreed that such a road could be built under forced draft within two years.

Rep. Anthony J. Dimond, of Alaska, has introduced a bill in the U. S. House, now in the Committee on Roads, calling for a $25,000,000 appropriation for an Alaska-U. S. highway.

Previous estimates, however, indicated costs many times greater than this and set from three to 15 years as the time necessary—depending on the route selected. A number of qualified authorities in western Canada go so far as to say that such a road could not be kept open throughout the winter at any price.

Pros And Cons Of Proposed Roads

Although various commissions have been "studying" the highway for many years, it is difficult to obtain from official reports satisfactory information about such fundamentals as fog, snowfall, glaciers, avalanches, floods, gradients or per mile cost.

The distances involved in the proposed routes are, roughly: for the two routes from Seattle to Fairbanks via Prince George, e, a U. S.-Alaska highway may s t left shows the four proposed rou om Chicago through Alberta and nd the Mackenzie river valley. Ri a on which the highway may be Whitehouse, Dawson, 2,250 miles; Chicago to Fairbanks via Edmonton and the Mackenzie Valley, 4,000 miles; and only a little less from Chicago to Fanrbanks via Whitehorse.

On the route northward from Seattle designated "A" there is already a gravel road, with a few stretches of pavement, from Vancouver to Hazelton, B. C., via Prince George. It would have to be extensively relocated, resurfaced and widened before it could be considered safe for military loads, particularly in the Fraser river canyon where it follows the old Cariboo road. In many places the job would be virtually that of constructing a new road. The Vancouver tourist bureau estimates four days required to drive from Vancouver to Hazelton, 832 miles, even when there is not heavy snow.

Supporters of Route B, starting at Prince George, pencil the International Highway along the Rocky Mountain "trench" via Finlay Forks. They point to light, dry snows as easier to remove than those on some U. S roads. The "trench," or valley, is fairly level for 300 miles to Sifton Pass. But beyond that gorge for hundreds of miles construction workers would have to notch and blast and bridge innumerable barriers, according to mining engineers who have covered the area.

For example, in that country where a road is notched in a mountainside, frost brings dust and gravel down upon the inner surface of the road, and ice and snow solidify this rubble into slippery embankments almost as hard as concrete and sloping toward the precipice at the outer edge of the road. Oldtimers say that it would be suicidal to attempt to drive on such a road in winter.

Stefansson Favors Mackenzie Route

Route A, from Hazelton, nearer the fjord-indented coast, is even more difficult than the one from Finlay Forks.

One of the few recognized experts who has inspected various proposed routes is Vilhjalmar Stefansson, arctic explorer. After a recent trip to Alaska, Stefansson asserted that the urgent defense need is a road west from Norman on the Mackenzie, where there are oil wells and a refinery, so that gasoline can be transported to Fairbanks, which is being made an important United States air base.

"Next," says Stefansson, "the entire Alaska highway ought to be completed from Chicago via the Mackenzie Valley—the logical route, cheapest to build, easiest to defend and located near vast oil reserves at Turner Valley, McMurray tar sands and Norman. Eventually highways ought to be built, also, on both routes through British Columbia."

There is another factor favoring the Chicago-Alaska route If an overland route to Alaska should have to be used because an enemy had cut sea communication, it is hardly likely that military authorities would weaken defense of Puget Sound by moving troops, guns or munitions from Seattle, rather than from Chicago, northwestern corner of America's "vital rectangle."

Pontiac Kicks Off '42 Model Season At Kansas City Meet

M. C. Rodgers, head of the "Cal" Rodgers Pontiac Company, local Ponitac dealer, and the company's sales force have returned from Kansas City, Missouri where the Pontiac Motor division formally launched its 1942 campaign. All Pontiac dealers from the Kansas City zone territory met at the Elms hotel at Excelsior Springs, Mo. This was one of 27 Pontiac dealer meetings being held in key cities throughout the country this month.

These dealer meetings are being held following three two-day conferences between factory sales executives and the regional and zone field organizations of the company's 24 zones. The three meetings were at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, Chicago; and Catalina Island!

The dealer meeting at Excelsior Springs was in charge of G. C. Sumner, Kansas City, zone manager and featured a detailed presentation of the 1942 merchandising program.

1942 Models Restyled

"Every dealer and salesman was pleasantly surprised, however, when he saw the new Pontiac cars," continued Mr. Rodgers, "In a year when changes are least expected we found that the new Pontiacs have been re-styled appearance-wise; also, that a number of worthwhile mechanical improvements have been made.

"Torpedo styling, which Pontiac pioneered two yeas ago, will be the basis of the Pontiac design this coming year. There will be two lines of cars — DeLuxe and Streamliner, both of which are greater in overall length than last year. All models are available with six or eight cylinder engines.

"The new cars have been changed as much in appearance as they would be in any normal year, the reason being that the new dies and tools were made last winter and spring, before tool and die makers were needed for defense work.

Fined On Charge Of Reckless Driving

Jasper James Henley, Houstonia, arrested Friday evening on a charge of reckless driving, pleaded guilty to Magistrate C. W. Bente in police court Saturday and was fined $25.

He was arrested following a wreck in the 1700 block on West Main street. Henley was backing a truck out of an alley and backed into a Dodge truck driven by A. B. Wild, 1703 South Harrison, which belonged to R. C. Woods, Second street and Kentucky avenue.

Slight damage resulted to both trucks.

ANSWER: From their jagged edges, which appear to have been cut with "pinking" shears.

by Gillespie Funeral Home

A familiar figure on the streets of most American cities in the early 1900's was the roving umbrella man. Ringing his bell by way of advertising his presence on the streets, he trudged along with his tools strapped to his back and a bundle of umbrella handles under his arm as he looked for umbrellas that needed mending. And in those times he filled a definite need in the community. There was a greater need then for umbrellas because it was before the era when closed cars were available to almost every family—and anyone who had to leave the house on a rainy day needed protection from the elements. Nowadays the itinerant umbrella mender has almost vanished from our cities—along with the thinker and the gypsy and his dancing bear.

C.J. Shackelford Dies At Age of 100 At Boonville

C. J. Shackleford, who celebrated his hundredth birthday April 22, 1941, died at 12 o'clock Friday night at St. Joseph's hospital in Boonville. Mr. Shackleford, who was born in Boonville lived with his daughter, Mrs. R. C. Ardinger of Nelson, route 2. He was taken to the hospital three weeks ago.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Miller's chapel in the Postal neighborhood. Burial will be in the chapel cemetery.

Mr. Shackleford had resided with his daughter since the death of his wife in 1930.

His hundredth birthday celebration was at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. W. W. Burger at Pilot Grove, numerous relatives being in attendance.

Mr. Shackleford was the oldest Confederate veteran in Pettis county and always derived much interest in recalling his experiences in Civil War days and he gave a vivid account of the conflict which took place in Missouri. He enlisted at Boonville at the beginning of the war at the age of 20. He was a member of Company A, under General Shelby, with the rank of sergeant, the unit forming a part of Price's army. He returned to his home at the close of the war, broken in health, several years elapsing before his health returned to normalcy.

Mr. Shackleford was born April 22, 1841, the youngest of a large family of Scotch-Irish descent, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn Shackelford. His mother, Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Hubbard Shackleford, died when he was 3 years old. His father passed away 8 years later, after which time he made his home with an aunt, Mrs. James Faulkner and husband on a farm three miles from the 700 acre tract of land which he later owned, southwest of Boonville. He improved this land, fenced and cross fenced it with rails from the wooded section on the farm.

Used Oxen in Fields

Oxen were used in the fields at that time and the wheat was cradled. One year 100 acres of wheat was cradled. He depended on the sun to tell the time of day, as there was no clocks in his home. Food was cooked on a fireplace in large open kettles. He was the first in the country to purchase a cook stove, which attracted a great deal of attention. He built a spacious home along with other improvements, and was well known as a successful farmer and stockman in Cooper county. The fact that there were slaves in the Faulkner home influenced him to defend the cause at the outbreak of the war. One Negro mammy remained with the family until her death long after the conflict had closed.

Mr. Shackleford was married to Miss Gabriella Berkley of Versailles in 1864, who passed away April 22, 1930. There were five daughters born to this union, three of whom died a number of years ago; Mrs. H. H. Harris of Marshall, Mrs. E. B. McCutcheon of Pilot Grove and Mrs. J. M. Marshall of Kansas City. The two other daughters are: Mrs. P. H. Hay of Saline county and Mrs. Robert Ardinger of Pettis county. He has nine grandchildren, eight great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Shackelford moved to Sedalia in 1918, where he spent much of his spare time in wood work.

Trip to Reunion

At the age of 98, he went by automobile to Gettysburg, where he joined Confederate and Union veterans in the national reunion. He was accompanied by his granddaughter, Mrs. W. W. Burger, Mr. Burger of Pilot Grove, and another granddaughter Mrs. Spencer Jenkins and Mr. Jenkins of Longwood. The entire trip covered about 2,400 miles.

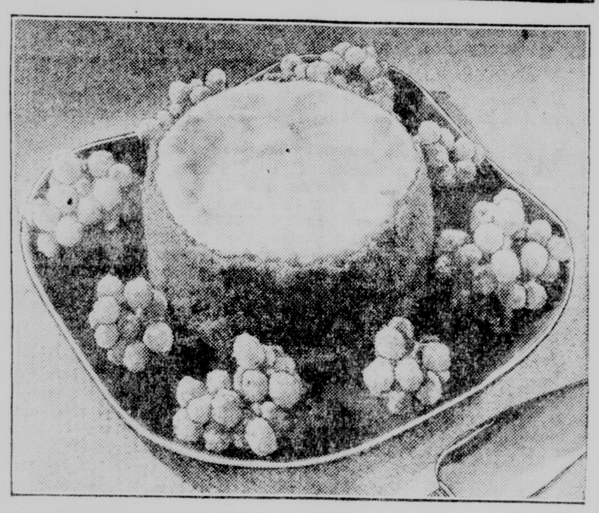
Cheese Cake A Dessert Favorite



Here is a dessert that is a universal favorite the country over—fluffy cottage cheese cake. Unlike most cheese cakes this one shrinks very little when cooled. Serve with frosted white grapes, wedges of fresh peaches, or tart apples and you have a dessert beautiful to look at as well as delicious to eat.

Cheese cakes may be classed along with custards when considering their food value, for they both contain the wholesome goodness of milk.

COTTAGE CHEESE CAKE

1 package zweiback (5-¾ oz.)
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted

Crush zweiback and add remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly and line bottom and sides of an 8-inch spring form pan. Chill while making the filling.

FILLING FOR CAKE

3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 cup whipping cream (½ pint)
1½ lbs. dry cottage cheese

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Blend sugar and flour together; add to beaten yolks, mixing thoroughly. Rub cottage cheese through a sieve and add to yolk mixture, beating well. Stir in vanilla and lemon rind. Whip cream until stiff, lightly fold cream into cheese mixture and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn cheese mixture into crumb-lined spring form pan and bake for 1¼ hours in a slow oven (300°F.). Cool thoroughly on cake rack before removing sides of the pan. Serve with sugared grapes. 8 generous servings.

Evans All-Stars Play Merchants

Minor Leagues To Back Up All-Stars At Liberty Park

Sedalians Back From Minors At Natchez, Evangeline League Will Be In Lineups

The Earl (Potts) Evans All-Stars, composed of several "old timers" of the Sedalia Athletics and five players of the minor leagues who have returned home for the winter, will go upon the field of baseball this afternoon against the Sedalia Merchants. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

It will be the last home game of the season for the Merchants and a colorful windup is expected for this afternoon. There will be a little entertainment other than the baseball game according to Manager Evans of the All Stars, something which will give the fans a big laugh.

Minor League Players

In the lineup this afternoon will be Paul Evans, son of the manager, who will play shorstop; Roscoe "Hong Kong" Slaton, who will be in the outfield; Ernie "Lefty" Carpenter, the main spring of the team, will be on the mound winding up. All three players are former Mechant members. Woody Salmons will be behind the plate. George Bennington will roam in the outfield. These players were all members of the Natchez, Miss., club of the Evangeline league, this year.

Evans, Slaton and Salmons hail from Sedalia while Carpenter comes from Windsor and Bennington from Nelson.

On the team will be (and this is authentic accoding to Manager Evans) Elmer Dillard, Leroy "Dutch" Kirchofer and Evans himself.

Manager Harry Light is confident his aggregation will be able to weather the attack of the five minor leaguers and will put the "old timers" on the bench before the game comes to an end. He has nominated Johnny Thomas to pitch this afternoon. Thomas won over the Nevada Merchants last Sunday at the park.

"B. J." Players With Merchants

Light will have a couple of Ban Johnson players on the squad in Charles Weller and Charles Thompson, Jr., to fill in and who no doubt will be called upon to hit in the pinches. Both boys are known hitters in the B. J. league.

The Lineups:

The All-Star lineup: R. Slaton, right field; Bennington, center field; Paul Evans, shortstop; W. Salmons, catch; Earl Evans, first base; Kirchoffer, left field; Dillard, second base; Knoop, third base; Carpenter or Horner, pitch. Several other former Sedalia Athletics will probably be in uniform.

Ray Blades Will Join Cincy Reds As Coach

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds announced tonight that Jewel Ens, Red coach, will manage the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League next season, and Ray Blades, former St. Louis Cardinal manager, will join the Redleg coaching staff.

No Parking Near Fence During Football Games

During the past baseball season the Sedalia Park Board drafted regulations prohibiting the parking of cars within fifty feet of the Liberty Park baseball fence. This rule will be in effect during all home football games of the Smith-Cotton high school, with police officers to enforce the ruling.

Violators of this rule of the board are subject to arrest and charges will be filed against those persons and a fine of $25 to be assessed. Fence riders and car parkers have been a nuisance in the past at football games as well as baseball games.

The first home game will be played under the lights on Wednesday night September 24 against the Marshall, Mo., high school Owls meeting the Smith-Cotton Tigers.

Tiger Varsity Snap 'Freshies' At M. U. 66-13

Every Player Gets Chance In Opening Game Of The Year

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP) Coach Don Faurot sent in everything but the players' bench today as he gave his Missouri varsity football squad, dotted generously with question-mark sophomores a chance to show their stuff. They did, swamping the freshmen eleven under a 66 to 13 score.

The annual game opened officially the gridiron season for the Tigers. But the Faurot bag of hokus pokus tricks remained closed tightly to the prying eyes of any Ohio State scout seeking information for next week's game at Columbus, Ohio. The Tigers used nothing flashier than straight power plays, reverses and a few passes to score ten touchdowns.

'Twas A Real Pushover

The varsity pushed over two scores in the opening period, four in the second, one in the third and three in the fourth.

Billy Southworth Will Manage Cards In 1942

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Cardinals just about lost sight of the National league pennant today, but Manager Billy Southworth, who has kept the Redbirds in the running all year despite a disheartening string of injuries, will be back in the driver's seat in 1942.

Owner Sam Breadon announced the signing of Southworth to a new contract after the Cardinals lost to Chicago today.

Terms were not disclosed but it is believed Southworth was well rewarded for the great showing of the Redbirds who were rated behind Cincinnati and Brooklyn in the April forecasts. His present salary is estimated variously from $12,000 to $15,000.

Southworth succeeded Ray Blades as the Cardinal leader in June of 1940 and brought the team out of a terrible slump to finish third.

Dodgers Take Doubleheader From Phillies

Two Games Ahead Of Cardinals With Seven left To Play

By TED MEIER

PHILADELPHIA Sept. 20—(AP)—Those pennant-bound Brooklyn Dodgers had no run-ins with any umpires at Shibe Park today. Instead they ran right over the last-place Phillies in both ends of a double header to increase their first place lead over the Cardinals in the torrid National league race to two games with only seven left to play.

After Whitlow Wyatt, aided by Hugh Casey in the ninth, had pitched the Brooks to a 3 to 2 victory in a thrilling first game, Kirby Higbe duplicated Wyatt's feat for an easy 6 to 1 triumph in the nightcap. Wyatt gave up only three hits and Higbe four.

Quiet At Times

Thus, in an atmosphere of virtual quiet for several incidents when excited Brooklyn rooters jumped onto the field to pat their favorites on the back and when Cookie Lavagetto accidentally bowled over a photographer, Wyatt and Higbe each chalked up his 21st victory of the season for the Flatbush flock.

A crowd of 17,794—the largest Phillies turnout of the season—saw the Dodgers protest only once. That came in the seventh inning of the opener when Jimmy Wasdell ran out of the Brooklyn dugout, claiming Harry Marnie, of the Phils, had failed to touch first on his two-bagger to right. Manager Leo Durocher was right behind him, however, and promptly escorted Wasdell back to the bench.

Excitement In Opener

Practically all the excitement happened in the first game, which was undecided until the final pitch. The Phils had runners on first and third, with two out in the ninth, when Pinch Hitter Chuck Klein slashed a sharp grounder toward right field. Billy Herman, Brooklyn second baseman, came over fast, fumbled the ball, but recovered in time to get Klein at first by an eyelash.

Until he tired with one out in the ninth and was replaced by Casey, Wyatt pitched one of the greatest games of his career. He gave five bases on balls, but he was supreme in the pinches. He got 12 Phils on strikeouts, reaching his peak by fanning Micky Livingston, Frank Hoerst, Danny Murtaugh and Stan Benjamin in a row in the third and fourth innings.

Pitch For Pitch 'Till 6th

Southpaw Hoerst of the Phils, who turned in a four-hit 4 to 1 victory over the Dodgers on their last visit here, matched Wyatt pitch for pitch until the sixth inning. Then the Dodgers shoved over two runs to break a 1 to 1 tie, aided by Bobby Bragan's boot of Lavagetto's grounder.

Higbe had a comparatively easy

Shelbyville Loses To Grant Town, W. Va., 6-8

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 20—(AP)—Birmingham, Ala., defending champions of the American Baseball Congress, got off to a good start in the 1941 amateur world series today by rallying for three runs in the final inning and a 3 to 2 victory over Fort Custer, Mich.

Results of the other first round games in the meet, which is conducted on a two-defeat and out basis, included:

Grant Town, W. Va., 8, Shelbyville, Mo., 6.

Sport Scraps

Some of the former Sedalia Athletic baseball players will go back to their "first love" in sports today when the Potts Evans All Stars meet the Sedalia Merchants in the final game of the season at Liberty Park this afternoon. Yes Earl "Potts" Evans will put on his first baseman mitt and take over for the All-Stars, while roaming in left field will be Leroy "Dutch" Kirchoffer, and endavoring to knock down those hot grounders toward second base will be Elmer Dillard.

The necessary strength for the team will lie in the five Sedalians who played in the Evangeline League with Natchez, Mississippi this summer. Paul Evans will be at shortstop, Roscoe Carver in the right field, Ernie "Lefty" Carpenter pitching, Woody Salmon behind the plate, and George Bennington centerfield. These boys are fresh from minor league baseball and should give plenty of backing to the "old timers."

Some weeks ago an "Old Timers" game was discussed and was put on the shelf when some of the players after getting pepped up over the affair backed down and wouldn't go through with the proposition. All desired the necessary training to get into shape and fearing it would be Christmas before any of them would be ready, the game was dispensed with.

However there are a lot who will want to see Kirchoffer, Dillard and Evans back in their old "A's" uniform this afternoon.

We Sedalians who remember Rupert Parker, better known to his many friends as "Rip" Parker want to offer our congratulations on his having one of the largest harness horse winners in the country for this season. Already the Court Jester the two-year-old pacer has won $17,000 for an investment of $650 made by "Rip" and his partner Fred Egan.

Mr. Parker resided in Sedalia a few years ago and had several horses under him at the Missouri State Fair grounds. He worked his horses here through the winter and took them out on the leading harness racing circuits in the country to bring back the "folding money."

Coach Jimmy Obermiller should feel bad over having a light squad and boys with little experience. . . . Just think of Coach Carl D. Voltmer, of the Warrensburg State Teachers College ,whose Mules are almost as small as the Smith-Cotton Tigers and just about as smart. . . . To me the boys who stand on the curb in their felt hats and sucking soda's through a straw have about as much ambition as they look. . . While some others who could actually have a career in sports are afraid of getting hurt and after a tumble or two turn in their uniforms for fear they may get scratched up a bit and won't be able to go out for a game a little more tame than football or boxing. . . Tommy Dixon, well known boxer of Kansas City, has been made boxing coach at Ft. Leonard Wood and expects planty of material for the fall and winter program. . . Missouri Military Academy has ten full grid teams out for football this fall so the Central Missouri Conference can look for action from them. . . Captain Ralph Conger, Wentworth Military Academy, is laying no claims to anything in football this season. . . Hay fever sufferers can lean back and claim they are suffering for the Wild Life of our country. Missouri Conservation officials say the pollen-laden ragweed is a valuable plant in Wildlife restoration. . . The 128th Field Artillery Boys of the "Show Me" Regiment at Fort Jackson S. C., who played in the Pacific Softball League took the title with nine victories and no defeats. . . Several boys from Clinton, Cole Camp and Sedalia are on the team. . . . About 200 kids may get the County Court to thinking if they bunched up and let them know how much they want the Y. M. C. A. Gymn floor opened up to a recreational program under strict supervision for volley ball, basketball ball, wresting, boxing, and other athletic events.

American Association Playoff To Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20—(AP)—Shortstop Lou Klein snapped out of a prolonged batting slump tonight by banging in seven runs on two inside the park homers as the Columbus Redbirds made it two straight over the Louisville Colonels, 10 to 5, in the final American association playoff series.

Klein's first blow came with two on in the sixth while his mates were trailing, 5 to 2. Cowboy Jones followed with a drive over the right field wall for the sixth and deciding run for the Birds.

School of Mines Smothers Arkansas State With 46-0

ROLLA, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Missouri School of Mines scored a touchdown six plays after the opening kickoff today and ran almost at will thereafter to smother Arkansas State, 46 to 0, in their football opener.

Old Banks

In the United States, 168 banks are more than 100 years old, while 2472 others have passed the 50-year mark.

Whirlaway And Wacky Winners At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Whirlaway picked up $23,050 today as easily as dropping a nickel in a subway turnstile, and with this pay day he climbed into third place on the all-time list of the turf's money winners.

Warren Wright's Wacky three-year old champion made a joke of the ancient Lawrence Realization at Belmont as he romped home by ten lengths in front of three colts whose only apparent excuse for being on the same track with Whirly was that each had four legs and ate oats, too.

Snead, Burke And Penna In Three-Way Golf Tie

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20—(AP)—Slammin' Sam Snead, first round leader in the $7,500 Hurst Invitation golf tournament, blew himself to a four-over-par 74 today to slip into a three way tie at 138 with two Ohioans—Billy Burke of Cleveland and Tony Penna of Dayton—at the 36-hole halfway mark.

Pinch Hitter's Homer Blasts The Cardinals

Leading 'Till Ninth Inning When Cubs Rally With Six Runs

By HENRY B. JAMESON

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs all but blasted the struggling Cardinals out of the National league pennant race today with a terrific 6-run explosion in the ninth inning after the Cards apparently had the all important game in the bag.

The crushing 7 to 3 defeat, coming on the heels of Brooklyn's twin victory over the Phillies, knocked the Redbirds two full games behind the furious Dodgers. It left them with nothing more than scant hope that some miracle might upset "dem fighting bums" in their seven remaining games against the two last place clubs.

Fatal Ninth

Lean Lon Warneke, who had beaten every team in the league this year except Chicago, was plodding along in his most masterful fashion until the fatal ninth, having allowed only four hits.

Then Phil Cavarretta, who had flied out three successive times, drove a hard single against the right field screen and only a powerful throw by Rookie Ervin Dusak kept him from going to second.

The Ladies' Day crowd of 18,652 rabid rooters seemed to sense the tragedy about to befall the struggling pennant contenders, who had given the Brooks an exciting run for it since April. There was anguished silence in the stands as Warneke faced the next batter, chunky Dom Dallessandro.

It All Happened Here

The dangerous little fellow doubled to left field and Bill Nicholson walked to fill the bases with none out. Babe Dahlgren forced Nicholson at second, scoring Cavarretta.

That left the gate still wide open and five more runs poured through, almost before Manager Billy Southworth could holler for help.

Lou Stringer's double over the head of Terry Moore, who lost the ball momentarily in the center field sun, scored Dallessandro with the tying run and sent Warneke to the showers, a downhearted veteran. The Arkansas Hummingbird had been trying for his 18th victory to tie his best season with the Cards. The defeat was his ninth.

Howard Krist Relief

He was relieved by Howard Krist, who has a perfect record of 10 wins and no losses. Clyde McCullough was passed purposely filling the bases again. Bob Scheffing, who once managed a Cardinal farm, came up as a pinch hitter and smashed the first pitch for a grand slam home run to climax the uprising.

The Cards showed only a weak sign of recovering in their half of the ninth when Frank Crespi singled with one away. But the next two batters went down in order as several of their teammates sat gloomily in the dugout actually in tears.

The Cubs' other run came in

Smithton Split Openers With Lincoln 'Hi'

Girl's Softball Team Win First Game; Smithton Boys Lose

The Smithton Tigers boys' and girls' softball teams opened their season Thursday night by spliting a doubleheader with the Lincoln Cardinals at Lincoln. The first game was the girls' game. The batteries were, for Smithton: Young, Monsees and M. Walz; for Lincoln: F. Gerken, Stevens and Taylor and Reid. The Smithton pitchers allowed only six hits while getting twenty-seven, the score being 26 to 8. Reuter of Smithton knocked a home run in the third inning. The Smithton squad is the county championship team and has lost but one game in two years.

Second To Lincoln

In the second game, R. Boehher of Lincoln allowed only six hits while he and his teammates secured eleven. Boehmer knocked a home run in the first inning. He showed speed in fanning eight Smithton batters. This game was very exciting because of the rivalry between the two teams. The outstanding catch of the game was made by Eddy of Smithton. A high fly was knocked to short field, where he was playing and he took it on a dead run. The batteries were, for Smithton: L. Demand and Baugh; for Lincoln, R. Boehmer and C. Boehmer. The lineups were, for Lincoln: Hare, sf; Fischer, 3b; C. Boehmer, c; R. Boehmer, p; Wenig, 1b; Gerken, cf; Perry, lf; Means, ss; Williams, 2b; Fristoe, rf. For Smithton: Eddy, sf; Tuggle, 2b; Jackson, 1b; Bremer, 3b; Dewan, ss; Baugh, c; G. Demand, lf; Hall, rf; Lamm, cf; L. Demand, p; Green, Luetjen.

The lineup for the girls' game was, for Lincoln: Taylor, c; B. Chastain, sf; Lumpe, 2b; Hughes, 1b; Scott, lf; McClung, sf; Reid, c; E. Gerken, ss; M. Chastain, 3b; F. Gerken, p; Inglish, rf; Stevens, 3b. For Smithton: Bolte, 2b; Darlene Ulmer, cf; Monsees, ss; Reuter, 3b; Young, p; V. Walz, lf; Pabst, rf; M. Walz, c; Dorothy Ulmer, sf; Pace, 1b; Bluhm, 1b; Curtis, sf.

Tennessee's Volunteers Hold Coming Out Party

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The coming out party Tennessee's Volunteers staged today for John Barnhill as head coach of a South-Eastern Conference team was definitely a success, the big Orange eleven handing him a 32 to 6 victory over a rugged Furman machine from the Southern Conference.

It must be recorded, however, that the Vols didn't have starting zip of teams of yesteryear.

The shirt-sleeved 12,000 crowd placed its stamp of approval on Johnny Butler as a starter at tailback.

Court Jester A Real Pacer Nets $17,000

Rupert Parker A Former Sedalian Shares Ownership

Word comes back to Sedalia of the success of Rupert Parker, former Sedalian, harness horse trainer, whose Court Jester, which he purchased in partnership with Fred Eagan for $650 has netted them more than $17,000 this year. A complete report on the record of Court Jester appeared in The Harness Horse, a racing magazine on harness horses.

At the Indiana State Fair on September 3 the Frank P. Fox Stake for two-year-oid pacers was easily cinched by Court Jester, who won the only two heats run in 2:05½ and 2:04¼ to take away the big end of the $16,965 purse. Court Jester's share was $8,282.50, while the winning driver, Rupert "Rip" Parker, netted $100.

Bought A Year Ago

Just a year ago Mr. Parker and Mr. Eagan paid $650 for Court Jester 2, 2:04¼, the latter interesting the former to buy the son of His Majesty 1:59¾, in partnership after failing to convince other trainers that they should buy the colt for one or another of their customers. And up until the September 3 race, the horse had netted as said before, $17,000 for its owners.

The race which he won and which was the outstanding event of the Indiana fair, meant more real dollars to "Rip" Parker than any race he has driven during his many years connected with the harness racing sport. According to the article in the magazine, "he never appeared any freer from a case of nerves, nor did he ever previously drive a more 'heady' race, or take advantage of conditions more quickly."

The entire article heaps praise upon both Mr. Eagan and Mr. Parker for their smartness in obtaining the horse and especially for the training and driving of Mr. Parker.

World Series Will Start October 1

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—(AP)—Kenesaw M Landis, commissioner of baseball, ruled today that the World Series would open October 1 as scheduled and thus turned down a suggestion that the first game be postponed because it coincided with the Jewish Holy Day, Yom Kippur.

Landis added that if there are any people of the Hebrew faith who will be compelled to miss not only the opening game but all of the games at the Yankee Stadium because the tickets are sold in units of three, they may, not later than September 27, 1941, send the tickets by registered mail to the commissioner, in care of the National City Bank, New York, for reimbursement.

Landis made known his decision in response to a request by the New York city council that the series opener be set back to October 2 because of the observance of the Jewish Holy Day on October 1.

In his letter to Joseph T. Sharkey, vice chairman of the council, Landis set forth in part:

"How your honorable body got such a proposition into its head, especially at this time, is utterly beyond comprehension. It is not good for the city. It is not good for the Jew. The date remains October 1."

Smith-Cotton Tigers Picked By Coach Jimmy Obermiller On The First Squad

Thirty-five Smith-Cotton high school football Tigers who are assured of places on the first squad, but not so positive as to whether they will be named on the starting lineup against Marshall high school Owls on Wednesday night September 24 at Liberty Park. The players and their numbers: front row, left to right, Virgil Landers 31, Danny Van Dyne 44, Bob Vilmer 22, Philip Bergman 30, Pearly Hall 37, Charles Johnson 40, Bobbie Bothwell 28, Jack Delph 38, Bobbie Boothe 29. Middle row, left to right, Tommy Bast 54, Gordon Capes 51, Frank Meier 59, Harry Smith 61, Buddy Bloess 62, Otis Thomas 57, Robert Parker 53, Ralph Harrington 52, Horace Donath 58, Loren Williams 55, Billy Slagel 36, Herbert Young 20, Tommy Gardner 26. Back row, left to right, Harold DeJarnett 45, Archie Allen 35, Bobby Green 21, Kenneth Lutgen 32, Kenneth Strole 46, Dewey Stevens 25, Charles Wingate 34, Lewis Wheeler 41, Carl Russell 27, J. W. Rissler 24, J. B. Woodward 33, T. J. Carver 39, Jimmy Anderson 22. These boys have been regular in attendance and have earned the gold and black uniforms which they wear in the picture and which are the starting game uniforms of the Smith-Cotton Tigers.

Present 'B' Squad Of The Tigers

Here are twenty-three hard working high school boys of Smith-Cotton who are getting their first taste of high school football. These boys lack experience at the present time for the first squad, but many expect within a short time to crowd off the squad some of the boys who are already there. The squad names, front row, left to right, Frank Armstrong, Bobby Salmon, Henry Lamm Jr., Don Johnson, Estell Jenkins, Donald Smith, and Raymond Morris. Middle row, left to right, Raymond Harmon, Gordon Keithley, Olin Harms, Joe Herrick, Joe Quinn, Louis Boehm, R. C. Jenkins, and Marvin Kanter. Back row, left to right, Wilbur Roe, Gerald Weaver, Ambrose Pirtle, Robert Woodworth, Dude McFarland, Billy Swift, Franklin Sedlak, Jimmy Woody and William White.

Jewish New Year Services

Dr. Harry S. May, Rabbi of Temple El, will have as his sermon topic, "The Jewish People On the Crossroad," at New Year's services, Sunday evening at 8 p. m. On Monday morning at 10 a. m. Dr. May will speak on "What Constitutes A Jew?"

All these services are open to the public.

The Jewish New Year, or Rosh Hashonoh, will be observed this year on Monday, September 22. In accordance with the traditional method of Jewish observance, this festival, which marks the beginning of the year 5702, begins with sunset of the previous day and is celebrated by the Reform Synagogue for one day and by Orthodox and Conservative Jews for two days.

Originally the Hebrew New Year was an agricultural festival, marking the opening of the agricultural and economic year in Palestine which began in the autumn, the time of gathering the harvest and sowing of seeds. It was celebrated by resting from labor, as it still is today, and by the offering of special sacrifices at the Temple in Jerusalem. It was distinguished from all other holidays by the blowing of the Shofor, (the ram's horn), a custom which still prevails in the Synagogue.

As the agricultural background disappeared from Jewish life, rabbinic authorities invested the festival with new meaning. It became a holiday commemorating the beginning of creation. The highest spiritual ideals of Israel were expressed in the prayers composed by Jewish sages for this special occasion. Based upon scriptural passages, it was regarded as a time when God passes judgment upon all the inhabitants of the earth.

It was an epoch-making change in the conception of the New Year as a holiday, as this idea of judgment constituted the keynote of the entire service. Emphasis is placed upon the idea that the New Year marks a season of self-examination, repentance, and reconciliation of man with man and man with God, making for a spiritual recreation of life.

In this time, the Jewish New Year's Day bears a significant message to humanity at large as well as to Jews specifically.

Some History

A single strain of blow flies has been raised for 200 generations for experimental pruposes at Ohio State University. This would be equivalent to a family history of 4000 years on the human scale.

In 1940, Ohio ranked second in the nation in number of fishing licenses sold, with Michigan first and New York third.

Division Meet For The WMA

(By Church Reporter)

Wednesday, September 24, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., at the First Baptist church, of Warrensburg, Mo., will be held the annual W. M. U. divisional meeting, of the Sedalia division. Mrs. Orville Cayton, Sweet Springs, Mo., the divisional chairman, will be in charge. All W. M. U. members and others who are interested in missionary activities of the churches are urged to attend. At 6:15 p. m. a Young Peoples' banquet will be served for all auxiliary members who can possibly attend. If you plan to attend the banquet, reservations should be sent to Mrs. G. W. Carter, 314 Ming., Warrensburg.

A very fine program is planned for the evening, beginning at 7:45. Dr. J. Hundley, Wiley, China., one of the missionaries to China, will deliver a wonderful message. The men are welcome and especially urged to attend the evening meeting.

Mrs. Walter P. Arnold is associational president for the Harmony association group and will be in charge of special music on the afternoon program. Mrs. W. O. Stanley of the First Baptist church W. M. U., will give a response to the welcome address at the opening session.

Henry Clay said, "I would rather be right than be president."

Timely Notes Around And About Missouri

ALTAMONT, Mo., Sept. 20—(AP)—Every year Altamont stages a colt show and if there's any place where one would think that youth would be served, that's it but at the head of the parade opening this year's event Sept. 27 will be 83-year-old Henry Cole riding a 39-year-old mare. Cole helped promote the show in 1901 and has been active each succeeding year.

Circuit Judge Maurice Hoffman of St. Joseph has a justifiable faith in human nature. Last May a farmer pleaded guilty before him to an assault charge but said he would like to go tend to his crops. Judge Hoffman agreed and the farmer came back last week to take his medicine.

Governmental worries: The St. Joseph News Press notes there's only $85.18 left in the 1941 Buchanan county drug fund and wonders if that will be enough to buy aspirin for the resulting headaches on the county court. And George Olds of Springfield complains because the government uses an "expensive manila envelope" to send him a letter asking him to help conserve paper.

Don't know what was accomplished at same, but it seemed worthy of note when the busy breakfast buddies club of New Madrid held an evening meeting the other day.

It's hard to glorify an outlaw. Right when they were previewing the Belle Starr picture, Wayne Gladden of Joplin, disclosed he had a $50 hot check the feminine bandit's bank robber son, Henry Starr, gave Gladden's father, a hotel operator at Seligman 35 years ago.

The examining physician no doubt was surprised when an applicant for work at the St. Louis small arms ammunition plant showed up with the words "Hello Doctor" tatooed on his bared chest. But not nearly as surprised as the tatcoed one when the doctor went right on with his examination without commenting.

Hats off to R. Stuckey Harrington, Clinton county prosecutor. He answered a letter this week which your correspondent sent to his predecessor on Nov. 30, 1939.

Strange occupation department: Fred Hawks of Hamilton has carved 700 wooden pipes in less than two years while carrying on his regular automobile business. And Ben Weddle, an Easton paper-hanger in the summer makes rugs on a hand loom for his winter revenue.

Those New York skyscrapers are in for some new competition. It will come from Spike Classen who's taken his six-foot, seven-inch frame, and even bigger heart, to the AP's Gotham sports staff after three years of reporting athletic antics of the midlands. And since he'll be slipping away after a few days of training his successor it shouldn't hurt to disclose that while he writes under the name of Harold J., his real name is Heio Janssen Claassen.

Springfield's current mystery isn't so much concerned with who took $61.35 from the postoffice but how the burglar got in and out a window frame which measured only 8½ by 11¾ inches.

Capt. George Van Zee no longer sleeps in the trailer in which Maj. Gen R. E. Truman follows the 35th division on maneuvers. The general gave this succint explanation: "He snores."

Living Cost At Ten Years High

is largely the story of the rise in retail food prices.

The labor department's study shows food prices have gone up 12 per cent in the last year—10 per cent since last March.

Government economists explain the upturn in prices by pointing to some of the factors operating under the old economic law of supply and demand.

They mention increased consumer buying stimulated by the increases in earnings and income from a greatly expanded industrial machine geared up to produce arms and munitions of war.

They mention too, large scale government buying for domestic purposes and for shipment abroad under the lease-lend program.

Eggs, pork, fats and oils, for example, are being bought under lend-lease, explaining in part rising prices for these commodities.

The average cost of food, most important item in the wage earner's budget, economists report, will be higher when the cost of fresh fruits and vegeables starts to go up, probably in late September and in October.

Bureau economists look for further advances in living costs but are hopeful that price control mechanisms can be created to prevent the 113 per cent rise experienced during the last war. The peak in that war, of course, was not reached until 1920.

Opportunity To Aid In Defense

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 20.—Missouri's truck and bus owners will have an opportunity this week to make a contribution to national defense by supplying information to the highway traffic advisory committee to the war department, and the federal works agency now engaged in a state wide inventory, it was announced here today. This is a part of a nation wide inventory now being conducted.

Approximately 190,000 questionnaire cards are being mailed out this week to owners, who are expected to fill out and return the cards promptly.

With over 150,000 trucks and 40,000 trailers in this state today, compared with about 25,000. Twenty-five years ago there is little danger of transportation tieup such as existed during the World War No. 1, it is pointed out.

Units of the federal works agency will conduct the inventory in cooperation with the state. The public roads administration will direct the inventory, with the WPA furnishing part of the labor and the state highway planning survey the balance.

The state highway planning survey with J. H Long, manager, and B. H. Mayes financial supervisor, will direct the analysis and listing or returns.

The members of the state highway traffic advisory committee with Governor Forrest C. Donnell as chairman, is composed of V. H. Stewart, commissioner of motor vehicles; Carl W. Brown, the chief engineer of the Missouri state highway department and Captain W. J. Ramsey, acting superintendent of the state highway patrol.

Charles T. McGinley is technical representative of the public roads administration, cooperating with the state agencies in making the inventory.

Juanita Jane Hopkins

Juanita Jane Hopkins, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Hopkins, of 1617 East Ninth street, passed away Saturday at the home of her parents.

Death followed an illness of about two months, her condition becoming serious a couple of days before her death.

She was born in Sedalia on June 29, 1940.

Funeral arrangements have not been fully completed.

Funeral of Mrs. Morton

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Elizabeth Morton, wife of Sergeant Marvin B. Morton of the United States Air Corps, who died in the St. John's hospital at Springfield, Mo., Wednesday from injuries received when the automobile which she was driving skidded on slick pavement and crashed into an enbankment, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The services will be held at the Methodist church in Knob Noster.

Reverend H. A. Wood, Otterville, and Reverend I. H. Rand, Kansas City, will officiate. Both ministers are close friends of the family.

Music for the service is in charge of Mrs. O. W. Peithman, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Peithman, Mrs. Doggett, Spencer Lane and E. C. Parrott will sing. Mr. Lane, of Marshall, will sing a solo and a duet will be sung by Mrs. N. G. Ingle and Mrs. M. R. Munday both of Calhoun.

Pallbearers will be six soldiers members of the United States Air Corps at Scott Field, Ill., friends of Sergeant and Mrs. Morton.

Burial will be in the Crown Hill cemetery here.

Mrs. Morton was born at Kelso, Kansas, August 8, 1911. She was graduated from the Sweet Springs high school attended the Central College at Fayette and the University of Wyoming. Upon completion of her education she taught school at California, Mo., and in the Elmburt high school in suburban Chicago.

December 26, 1937 she was married to Marvin B. Morton of Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.

At the age of five she affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal church and at the time of her death she was a member of the Signal Hill Methodist church at Belleville, Illinois, where she resided.

Surviving is her husband Sergeant Marvin Morton, who at the time of his wife's death was on duty during maneuvers in Louisiana, her parents Reverend and Mrs. George B. Snapp of Knob Noster and brother Harold H. Stephenson of Muskogee, Okla.

The body will be taken to the family home this morning from the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

Funeral of John Harris, Sr.

Funeral services for John Harhis, Sr., 87, Houstonia, who passed away Friday at the Bothwell hospital, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Community church in Houstonia with the Reverend Brown officiating.

Mr. Harris passed away from complications following a fractured hip suffered in a fall in a garage of his home.

Mr. Harris was born in Missouri, and had for many years run a stock farm at Houstonia. He and all his family are members of the Christian church there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1937. Mrs. Harris was Eulalia Crumpacker, formerly of Virginia.

Mr. Harris is survived by his wife and four children, John Harris, Jr., of Houstonia; Lawrence Harris, Kansas City; Mrs. William H. Packard, St. Louis, and Mrs. C. M. Gray, St. Louis; one brother, Nathan Harris, Houstonia and one sister, Miss Betty Harris of the state of California. He also leaves six grandchildren.

Funeral of Mrs. Crawford

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Cox Crawford, wife of Frank Crawford, who passed away at her home four miles southeast of La Monte Wednesday morning, September 17, was held at the La Monte Methodist church Friday afternoon with the pastor, Rev. C. I. Phipps officiating assisted by Rev. Francis L. Getz.

A quartet composed of Miss Elsie Smiley, Miss Mary Anderson, Mrs. Ray O'Dell and Mrs. R. E. Kerby sang, "When I've Gone the Last Mile of the Way," "Beautiful Beckoning Hand," and "Going Down the Valley."

Pallbearers were nephews: Will French, Arthur French, Elmer Winfrey, Eugene Crawford and Melvin Crawford.

Burial was in the La Monte cemetery.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were: S. M. Cox, Champion, Neb., Will Fench, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. French, St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Creighton and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford of Parsons, Kas. Dr. and Mrs. Creighton and son, Jimmy, of Boonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Winfrey of Sedalia.

Funeral of Mrs. Webb

The funeral of Mrs. Elmer J. Webb, of Warrensburg, who passed away Wednesday, September 17, was held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Sweeney Phillips Funeral home in Warrensburg and burial was in the La Monte cemetery at 11:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Webb was for many years a resident of La Monte before moving to Warrensburg.

She is survived by two sons, Frank Webb of Windsor and Arthur Webb of Los Angeles, Calif., and one daughter, Mrs. Laura Frueling of Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Webb preceded his wife in death.

Friends of the family in La Monte served as pallbearers: Egbert Price, J. D. Marshall, Floyd Ripley, Lowell Reavis, R. E. Kerby and Clyde Swope.

The following women have hemmed diapers: Mrs. E. B. Bohon, Mrs. Fred Curtis, Miss Louise Burk, Mrs Philip McLaughlin, Mrs. Max Drohlich, Mrs. O. M. Clouser, Mrs. Arthur Kidwell. Mrs. Drohlich and Mrs. William Hanlon spent Monday working in the sewing room at the Red Cross headquarters.

Appeal For Buttons

An appeal for buttons again is being made. They may be colored or white and about the size of a nickel. Many buttons are lying away in boxes and sewing machine drawers unused, while hundreds of them are needed for the clothes for the war children, especially for rompers and snow suits. Anyone who can contribute buttons which are no longer in use would help greatly in completion of garments, as well as in saving the Red Cross many pennies.

Mrs. Harold Dean, chairman of knitting, announces that any finished knitted garments should be turned in not later than Tuesday evening to be included in this month's shipment. She yet has on hand yarn for three afghans, knitted or crocheted; 19 men's sweaters; 64 women's sweaters; 110 children's sweaters and 85 pairs of mittens.

More Knitters Needed

The chairman is pleased with the number of volunteers now working, but still more are needed to help with the large knitting assignment.

"Devil's Tramping Ground" Is Evil Path Where Nothing Lives

A fair visitor gazes at North Carolina's mystic circle—"The Devil's Tramping Ground"

HIGH POINT, N. C.,—The devil tramps nightly in the flatlands of North Carolina. He picked an eerie spot in western Chatham County here long years ago and to this day he tramps there every night.

Baloney? Maybe. And then, maybe not. There's testimony stronger than the awed natives' hushed voices when they talk of the subject. It is the testimony of the earth itself.

Travel 10 miles from Silver City to Harper's Cross Roads and you'll come to a narrow country road. Start down it. A scant 50 yards further on you'll come upon a smooth, cleared path forming a perfect circle about 40 feet in diameter. The circle is surrounded by trees. But the path which forms the circumference is bare as a billiard ball and inside the circle nothing grows save wire grass.

As far back as man can remember that smooth, clear circle, free of vegetation, has stood there. As far back as man can remember nothing has grown in side the circle but wire grass. All efforts to plant any vegetation on the smooth circle have also failed.

Even Animals Fear Evil Circle

Any obstacles placed by day across the path which forms the circle's circumference are gone the following morning. Natives will tell you that hounds of hunters approaching the spot will suddenly hesitate, tremble and flee. In the area no birds sing, there is on wild life of any kind. These phenomena have been witnessed a thousand times—they say.

The tales are not new ones. They have been handed down from generation to generation. There have been many attempts to explain this mockery of nature. Some say Indian braves tramped down the section in great war dances, generations of moccasin-clad feet stomping the earth barren. Some say it is the burial place of the great Indian chief Croatan, watched oved by Indian gods.

Some believe that buried pirate treasure is under the circle and many have dug for it in vain. Some say a sugar mill once stood here and horses' hooves beat down the earth in treading a circle to turn the machinery.

Yet there is no logical explanation of this circle—the patch in which no vegetation will grow despite repeated efforts to plant it.

When the State Highway Commissioner recently erected signs pointing to the "Devil's Tramping Ground," pranksters placed a placard at the site with the ominous inscription: "The Devil Tramps Here." Who can say for sure that they are wrong?

Extended Tour By Smith Family

R. M. Smith, a retired agent for the Standard Oil Company here, during the past few months, with Mrs. Smith, their daughter, Miss June Pauline Smith, and a brother and sister from Scottsdale, Pa., have been making an extensive tour the past few months with car and trailer and in a letter to the Democrat and Capital state they have been having a most wonderful time. After leaving Sedalia on May 27 Mr. and Mrs. Smith and daughter visited with a daughter and sister, Mrs. Carl Wichern, at Dallas, Texas, going from there to Corpus Christi, Texas for a brief stay thence northward to Arkansas, through Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan to Detroit.

From Detroit they went to Niagara Falls and Toronto then spent the month of July near Pittsburgh, Pa. Later a trip was made up the Hudson river to Lake George, Lake Champlain and into Montreal and Quebec, Canada.

Quebec Mr. Smith states is a very interesting city founded in 1608 by Champlain. The old streets there are very narrow and part of the old city wall is still standing. Tours of the city are made mosty in Caleches. Ox teams, he writes, are used on numerous farms and women bake bread in outdoor ovens near the roadsides.

He tells of a side trip made to Rivere-du-Loup down the St. Lawrence river, then through the mountains and lakes of Maine to Bangor. Entering Canada again the tourists stopped in St. John and had a thrill from watching the ocean tide push the St. John river back to a height of 28 feet above low tide.

Recently a boat trip was taken to Prince Edward Island where Charlottetown was visited. It is the capital of a province. Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, was also visited where they walked through lovely Evangeline Memorial park.

Services on Sunday were attended at St. Paul's Anglican church which is the oldest Protestant church in Canada, being erected in 1749.

Leaving Canada for the New England states they are proceeding down the Atlantic seaboard to Flordia.

Talk On Safety By Trooper

Given At Meeting Of P.T.A. Following Oath To Patrol

After administering the oath of office to the patrol boys of Broadway school, Trooper R. W. Conn, of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, gave a helpful talk on "Safety" at the Broadway Parent Teachers association meeting Friday afternoon, in the school auditorium.

Trooper Conn spoke to the patrol boys concerning their responsibility in directing traffic as a means of avoiding accidents in the movement of children to and from school. He reminded the parents that the basis for safety education should be laid in the home.

The speaker stressed that pedestrians should remain on sidewalks until they have reached intersections, and that persons walking on the highway should use the left side, facing the traffic, and that a highway pedestrian should wear white or carry a flash light.

Discusses Bicycle Problem

Trooper Conn referred to the bicycle problem and pointed out that riders should observe the same laws that apply to other vehicles. He urged parents to provide proper lights for their children's bicycles. He concluded his remarks by commending the schools for their cooperation in the safety program.

Forrest L. Drake, principal, spoke briefly to the association on the responsibility and aims of the school in training children for good citizenship.

At the conclusion of the program Mr. Drake introduced the new music teacher, Miss Cleora Clements, who gave a piano solo, "From An Indian Village," by Lieurance.

Mrs. Walters Presides

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. G. A. Walters, and the devotional was led by Miss Genevieve Smith. Mrs. E. S. Stockton was elected secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. R. H. Wade, who has moved to Fort Smith, Ark.

During the business session Mrs. Walters introduced the following new committee chairmen: Mrs. Ed Brummett, devotional; Mrs. L. F. Bride From the Sky

By HELEN WILSHIMER

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Her interest in aviator Sandy Ammerman, Judy Allen decides, was just infatuation. Angered by newspaper stories linking him romantically with heiress Peg Gordan, she determines to put him out of her mind, devote herself entirely to her job as an associate magazine editor and the problem of her secretary, Sara Fuller, who is obviously jealous of her and who has put her own name to one of Judy's stories in Judy's absence. Finally Judy agrees to marry handsome, dependable Philip Rogers, attorney, who offers peace and security in contrast to Sandy's impulsiveness. When Sandy calls from the west coast, she decides not to answer the phone although the bell rings insistently.

* * *

SANDY COMES BACK

CHAPTER XI

JUDY did not answer the telephone call that came at 3 in the morning. She shivered slightly as the sound died away, vanishing across hills and mountains and rivers.

Tonight she had finished a chapter of her life. Sandy was out of it. She could write "the end." Period.

She took a warm shower in the morning, followed by one that was cold and brisk. She had a new office ensemble which she decided to wear. The skirt was a soft navy that matched slippers, gloves, and wrap-around turban. The jacket and blouse were made from a new lightweight natural woolen.

A hurdy-gurdy was playing a song from a musical comedy she had seen with Philip, and she sang along with the tune of the wandering musician. When the minstrel picked up a tune which she had shared at another show with Sandy, she tossed the man a quarter and hurried into the nearest coffee shop.

Odd how songs made a bridge across one's life. Each had its memories. She must make a bonfire and burn all rhythms, now. Funny how the projection of half a dozen measures of a song could set the key for an hour, a day, forever.

There were violets in the cool, gray box on her desk. Burying her face in their dewy fragrance she did not glance at the card immediately. It would say "Philip."

Beside the box was a newspaper, neatly turned to an inner page where a short story announced that Sandy and Peg were leaving California for the Gordan lodge. Sandy's monoplane was being repaired more rapidly than had been considered possible at first. Judy understood that. Peg's father talked in millions. Naturally he would reward a boy who had cracked up because he answered that man's daughter's signal for help.

A picture of Peg accompanied the story. Good work, Peg! Not many debutantes had the chance to be rescued by a birdman. Maybe your glamor was growing pale. You'll be tops again!

At the same time Judy told herself that Sandy, as an aviator, even one who had made speed dashes and won cups and money for altitude records, would not have merited such space in the press, had Peg not been a Gordan.

It wasn't fair to Sandy. Then she remembered a wall had sprung up between herself and Sandy. There it stood, a grim, gray fortress that he could never cross. He and Peg were on one side of it. She and Phil were on the other.

* * *

SHE picked up the card that accompanied the flowers. "Don't you ever answer your telephone? You're nutty but I love you." The card bore Sandy's initials. Judy knew her barriers were going. A lump filled her throat so that she could neither speak nor swallow. So Sandy was still in pursuit. Maybe he strung hearts on a watch chain as old chiefs used to collect scalps. Anyway, he had wired flowers and a message to her when all of the time she had been so close to his voice.

She was through with tears. They gave you nothing but a red nose. When Sara Fuller came in, Judy nodded curtly. She would have smiled forgivingly—any girl knew life had its ski jumps for women—but Sara did not give her a chance to do anything.

"Sorry I made such a batch of things on the last news proofs. The book had already gone to bed or I would have corrected it. Phil hauled me over the coals." She opened an immense black pocketbook, which Judy knew had cost more than a week's salary.

"Suppose we skip the misplaced by-line," Judy suggested. "Accidents happen."

The green eyes were amused. "Yes, my infant, they do. I take my new gray lace turban off to you for your story. It was honestly good."

"Thanks. The secret's safe." She spoke casually but cherished an unwelcome idea that nothing in the low office with its daisy-sprinkled draperies was safe as long as Sara knew its secrets.

* * *

IT was four days later that Judy opened an evening paper to a scene of Sandy escorting a laughing Peg from a familiar monoplane. The cameramen had been out in full force. Reporters had been plentiful.

Judy closed her eyes and followed the procession . . . flashlights snapping, questions, dozens of them, being hurled at the two who had come in—Peg, gay and glamorous and loving the fanfare; Sandy embarrassed and eager to slip away.

She wondered why Sandy had not called. As yet she had made no announcement of her engagement to Philip. The call came half an hour later.

"Congratulations," she said in her lightest, brightest voice. "Sorry I missed the welcome home."

"Judy, I couldn't reach a phone last night. Some people were interested in my parachute and wanted a conference to inspect it."

"What did you do? Do a flop from a hotel balcony?" Not a tear tripped her husky voice.

"No, I talked. It's no go. The amiable gentlemen wouldn't meet my terms."

"What did Peg think?"

"She raised the dead. Her uncle was one of the committee so she came along."

"On crutches?" Judy asked sweetly.

"Yes, on crutches. Why?" His voice was puzzled.

"No reason. I just wondered how she was. Will you excuse me, Sandy? I have a date with Phil and have to dash."

"That's right. Old Phil wouldn't split a second on an appointment. He's a good guy. Say hello to him for me."

"He likes you, too," Judy finished sweetly, and hung up.

A good guy! Say hello to him for me! And Sandy never mentioned tonight or tomorrow or next September! Peg had gone to the conference! Let him get caught in an earthly net. No son-in-law of the Gordans would fly for fun. Dumb nut. He should be warned—

There was something warm and reassuring in Phil's voice when he called for her.

But his words turned her heart into a trapeze—a swinging, winging hoop that couldn't stop.

Bookshelf Quiz

Browsing through a bookshelf or looking around a library is interesting and informative entertainment for dull days. If you've been doing either you should know the answers to these questions about characters in old and new books.

1. Was Little Orvie a gangster, a mischievous child, a fox terrier or a dwarf and who wrote about him?
2. What famous Finn went sailing down the Mississippi on a raft?
3. Who was Sime Silverman and what book was recently written about his life?
4. In what books do we meet the cowardly lion and the sleepy doormouse?
5. What authors created the characters of Jim Hawkins and Jimmy Valentine?

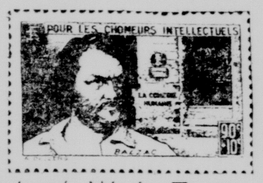
Stories in Stamps



Balzac's Works Treat All Phases of Society

"LA BELLE FRANCE" writhes under the Nazi heel today. Traditional center of literature and the arts, French culture is being replaced by a type of German folderol called "New Order."

French greatness sprang from an unusually talented people. It was the men and women of France who gave the nation international prestige. And while the little puppets of Vichy intrigue and plot with their new masters today, Frenchmen may well look to the heroes of their country for inspiration and hope.

Honore de Balzac (1799-1850), who was honored philatelically in the 1939 stamp above, was such a hero. He was the founder of the realistic school of fiction, which Emile Zola later developed as literary naturalism.

Balzac was a prodigious worker, producing 85 novels in 20 years. His medium varied. He sought to portray all ranks, professions, arts and trades. He dealt with every strata of human life.

His works are tinged with a morbidity and sometimes lean toward an excess of detail. Between 1831 and 1850 he produced the stories which comprise the great "Human Comedy," most widely read of which is "Father Goriot."

While combating piracy, the United States captured the town of Derna, in Tripoli (now Libya), North Africa, in 1804.

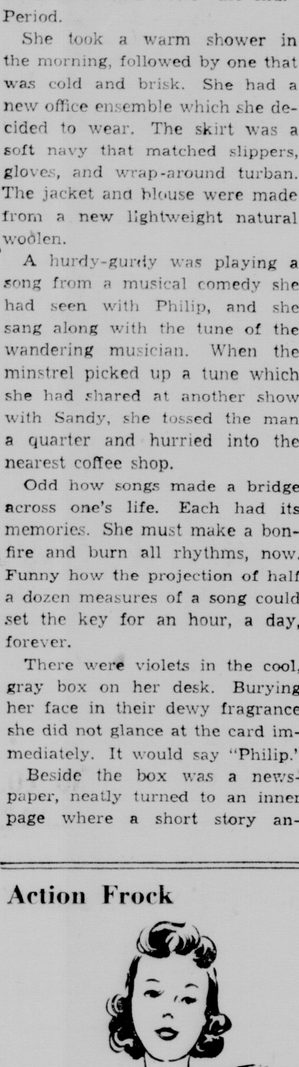
Action Frock



It's easy to see that your school daughter will highly approve if you make her this gay, carefree frock. It is brimming over with youthful smartness gained by the straight buttoning down the front, the sailor collar and the set-in belt, which nips the waistline so neatly. You can make it in no time at all—and the style is equally good for washable cottons, corduroy, gabardine, striped rayon mixtures or serge.

Pattern No. 8025 is in sizes 8 to 16 years. Size 10 requires 3¼ yards 35-inch material with 3c yards braid for collar, cuffs, pockets and belt.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to Sedalia Democrat-Capital, Today's Pattern 15c Pattern Book 15c, Pattern Service, 106 7th Avenue, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Lethargy Hangs On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(AP)—The stock market today ended a generally unsatisfactory week with an extension of the sharp decline of the previous session.

While prices steadied in many instances in relatively quiet dealings and a number of favorites managed to emerge with modest advances, small fractional recessions were widespread at the close.

Bearishness persisted over war bulletins telling of fresh Nazi successes in Russia, brokers said, and, while Wall Street inclined to the belief the Reds still had a chance, few were willing to take on additional commitments.

Further softness of commodities, apparently still depressed by the thought Congress might pass an overall price ceiling law that would include farm products, served to dull the buying appetite for most securities. The business scene remained under the cloud of material shortages and broadening governmental controls.

Unchanged to lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Western Union, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, J. I. Case, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Standard Oil (N. J.) and Johns-Manville.

Retaining advances were International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, Eastman Kodak, Consolidated Aircraft, American Smelting and Du Pont.

Bonds emulated stocks.

Decline On Grain Later Reduced

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—(AP)—Reflecting developments in the price control controversy in Washington, grain market quotations today dropped sharply early in the session but then recovered all or most of the losses.

Wheat tumbled almost two cents, rye and oats more than 2 cents, corn more than a cent and soybeans more than 4 cents before rallying strongly in the final hour.

Early selling was blamed by brokers on war news and general trade uneasiness.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅝ lower compared with yetserday, December $1.20⅛ to $1.19⅞, May $1.24 to $1.23¾; corn ⅛ to ⅜ down, December 81⅝ to 81½, May 86¾; oats ¾ to 1⅜ off; rye 1⅜ to 2¼ lower; soybeans ¼ to 1 lower and lard unchanged to 5 lower.

Concert For Jefferson PTA

Association Will Sponsor Several School Activities

The Jefferson School Parent Teacher Association met Friday at the school, with Mrs. Dorsey Walters presiding. The program was in the form of a short concert, consisting of popular tunes and marches, presented by the Smith-Cotton band, under the direction of Ralph Guenther. Mr. Guenther also made a short talk in which he gave interesting information concerning each instrument in the band. Each member of the band played a few notes on his individual instrument to illustrate Mr. Guenther's remarks. This program was the first appearance of the band before the association and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present.

Following the program a short business meeting was held. Miss Mary Louise Hull gave the devotional and Miss Maudalice Nelson led the audience in the singing of "America."

Sponsor Activities

The association voted to sponsor, as activities for the year, a pie supper, a play, a chili supper and a carnival. It was decided that a mimeograph machine be bought for the school with the proceeds from these activities. It was also decided that the Jefferson unit go on record as favoring the continuance of the Mutual Aid Center and that the association contribute it's share toward supporting it.

Mrs. G. C. Morris and Mrs. Vincent Siegel were selected to serve as delegates to the state convention to be held in Kansas City. Mrs. E. L. Hopper, membership chairman, announced the plan for the membership drive. The children from each room will have thirty days to secure members. At the end of that time, the grade getting the most members will be awarded a prize. Parents will then make an attempt to secure additional members.

Mrs. Willie Vaught announced the opening of a nursery room for children, which will be open during the next P. T. A. meeting. Parents who bring their small children may leave them in the nursery, where they will be properly attended to until the meeting is over.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, study class chairman, announced that the next study class meeting would be in the form of a Hallowe'en party, to be held at the school in October. All members of the P. T. A. were invited to attend.

Award To Room One

The award given for the room having the greatest number of parents and friends present was won by room one, taught by Miss Mary Louise Hull.

Following the meeting a reception in honor of the teachers and new patrons of the school was held. The teachers and new patrons were introduced to each of the members who have taken part in the association in the past. When introductions were completed, all those present were served ice cream and cake by the social committee. Mrs. Champ Shepherd, hospitality chairman, and the social committee, composed of Mrs. L. L. Anthony, chairman, and Mrs. Glen Kell, and Mrs. Nelson White, were in charge of the reception.

The next meeting will be held October 17, at 7:30 p. m. The Girl Scouts, under the direction of Miss Rowena Patterson and Mrs. Gertrude Roe, will have charge of the program.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 20—(AP)—Mayors and other representatives of 150 cities and towns in Kansas and western Missouri heard Sen. Harry S. Truman (D. Mo.) and Mayor John B. Gage attack the national defense program Friday for concentration of industries.

"As far as the OPM has been concerned," said Truman, "the little manufacturer has been left out in the cold. Over 75 per cent of the defense contracts have been awarded to 50 or 60 firms and they are represented on the OPM."

He saw some hope for spreading of more defense contracts through small firms under a plan he said was worked out by Lou E. Holland, chairman of the Mid-Central Resources board, which called the meeting of mayors. Through that system contracts could be let to pools of small manufacturers, each of which could do a specific part of the job.

Declaring that some "belief there exists what is tantamount to a conspiracy between the representatives of the great organizations who are getting the business and certain of those in government" to concentrate defense contracts, Gage added:

"If there exists a diabolical scheme to use the defense program as a means of concentrating the control of all industry in those who have power in government, if all independent business is to be throttled and, if our smaller cities are to wither and die, if a totalitarian state is to be established here and we are to lose all those advanages which have been accountable for the progress of this country — that plan should be uncovered and made known."

Hobson's Choice

Tobias Hobson, an early English stable owner, kept horses to hire, and every customer was required to take the horse next to the door; there was no choosing. From this custom came the expression "Hobson's choice," which still is used to denote a choice without an alternative
